

Charles Granaders Return After 3 Weeks in Europe

WEST BEVERLY—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Granader have returned to their home on Riverside after three exciting weeks on the European continent. Their first stop was Paris, where they saw the usual attractions—the Eiffel tower and the Arc de Triomphe, the unusual being the fabulous productions the Frenchmen offer in their nightclubs.

Their itinerary included 4 days in Rome which, according to Mrs. Granader was not enough time in which to see all that Rome has to offer. Zurich and Lucerne in Switzerland were next on the agenda with rides on ski lifts in the Alps which afforded breathtaking views. Of interest to the Granaders was the ease with which even the il-fittest take master the ski slopes.

NAPLES was next at which point they took a boat to the island of Capri. Upon disembarking they were met by a driver with a car of 1912 vintage and driven to the village square and told they would have to walk the rest of the distance to their hotel. Capri didn't have quite the charm of the song by the same name.

Nursery

Previously planned in Lathrup Village, said Clara Jane Lundberg, president of the nursery group, in a letter to council.

Mrs. Lundberg said the co-op nursery is a non-profit, not-for-profit group of mothers who own the school and hire a professional teacher, assisted by mothers.

LEONARD A. Watachowski, city administrator, said the construction stoppage revolves around a question not yet settled, as to whether work on the House in the Woods is an improper extension of a non-conforming use, or whether the improvement does not increase the area or community use of the building.

Those who oppose construction say the House in the Woods is in a residential zone and was being used for commercial purposes before zoning laws were adopted, so present uses can continue but no future increase can be allowed.

City officials have 10 days after Kelley's building permit application is filed, to either issue or deny him a work permit.

Smoke Screens

SOUTHFIELD—Township firemen were busy last week but according to Fire Chief Albert Kruck, "We didn't do anything." The department's log book showed a gas leak investigation—no leak; a junk truck on fire—being burned to purpose; a heating unit in a new house—just smoking; over-investigation—just spilled grease.

$197,805 in Permits

W. BLM. TWP. — Building department issued permits for an estimated $197,855 worth of building during January, according to Frank Hallett, township clerk. Of these permits, 12 were for new residences, valued at $191,805.

At Nies, where the temperature generally conceded to be idyllic, they shivered in 32 degree weather and Nies had its first snow in 17 years. However the sun came out the next day and "Carnival" was on which is a festival comparable to Mardi Gras at New Orleans.

FROM THERE the Granaders flew to London where it was foggy but they were able to view the palace and they also saw many of the pieces which had been bombed during the war and still are in a state of disrepair. Because they were homebound they missed the changing of the guard at Buckingham palace as it takes place on alternate days.

School Permit Given

SOUTHFIELD — Building permit was granted Feb. 10 for a $325,202 addition to the Brace school at Midway and Evergreen.

Five classrooms, a multi-purpose room and new boiler room is scheduled for completion in November.

Action Delayed On Tree Program

LATHRUP — Tree Committee Chairman Robert W. Gilmore told council Monday night they should adopt a city-wide program of tree spraying to combat Dutch elm disease this spring and summer.

Council, generally feeling the city could not financially support such an overall program, said they would like to see a cooperative program set up whereby the city sets up a wholesale program and gives the residents a cheaper means to treat their trees while at the same time not indebting the city as a whole.

A motion carried to have city officials send out letters to residents with return cards, asking them what they think should be undertaken.

Predict Poor Roads Will Hinder Buses

SOUTHFIELD — Township parents were told last week that the annual spring breakup of roads might disrupt school bus schedules and cause the buses to stick to the hard-surfaced roads, according to a letter sent out by Glenn Schoenhals, Southfield school superintendent.

"Such conditions make it impossible for school buses to maintain regular routes on side roads of Southfield township," Schoenhals said. "Thus, it may be necessary from time to time for the school bus to stop for your child at the nearest hard-surfaced road. You can be assured such conditions would only be temporary and would continue only as long as roads are impassible."

Uninformed Voters Cheat Themselves

SOUTHFIELD — Six persons unwittingly cheated themselves out of their vote in the Evergreen Sewer Millage Election Monday according to Mrs. Fannie Adams, township clerk.

"In every election there are at least several people who don't know how to work the machines and lose their vote," Mrs. Adams said. She explained that the uninformed voters push down the small levers, and thinking they have thereby registered their choice, push the little lever up again and leave the booth.

All they have done, according to Mrs. Adams, is add one more figure to the total number of voters on the machine, but have not registered a vote for any particular candidate because they failed to push the big lever which adds their vote to those which have gone before them.

Election officials will be cautioned in the future to check each voter closer to make sure he, or she, knows how to operate the machine.

Load Limit Law

LATHRUP — Council accepted a report by Thomas N. Reed, road committee member, and referred it to City Attorney Everett Hayes so it might be put in proper form for adoption as a load limit ordinance in the next council meeting.
