MR. & MRS. JOHN M. CAMPBELL, JR.

Bride Chooses Gown Of Chantilly Lace

Gloria Elaine Allison wore a gown of chantilly-type lace and net over satin, when she became the bride of John Malcolm Campbell, Jr., in Grace Methodist church, Wichita Kan., Jan. 28.

The lace bodice of the bride's gown was fashioned with long sleeves and a Queen Anne collar. Panels of lace extended from waist to hem of the full, floor length skirt of net. Her silk illusion veil fell from a lace cap trimmed with tiny pearls and her bouquet was of white roses and violets.

Barbara Goldsberry, Wichita, was the bride's only attendant. Her gown was of flame color net, styled ballerina length. Skirt and strapless bodice were trimmed with tiny ruffles of net with sequins. A stole of net covered her shoulders and she wore a corsage of pale green carnations pinned at her waist.

Robert Campbell served as his brother's best man. Larry Adams and Larry Warfield, both of Wichita, seated the guests.

MRS. ALLISON greeted her guests at the home reception at in a beige faille two piece dress, worn with white hat and gloves and a corsage of yellow carnations. Catharine Holt and Dolores Goldsberry assisted her. Apricot printed gray silk shantung was the choice of Mrs. Campbell. Her hat and gloves were of apricot and her flowers were also yellow carnations.

When she left with her husband for Boston, Mass., the bride wore a gray flannel suit with matching accessories. The newlyweds will make their home there while the groom is attending Harvard graduate school of architectural design.

He is a graduate of Bowdoin college and his bride is an alumna of Kansas State Teachers college. In Boston, she will attend the George Vesper School of Art.

Junior Ridgedale Players Present 'Little Rebels'

Junior Ridgedales' annual play will be presented Feb. 18 and 19 at 3 p.m. at the Playhouse. Cast of the "Seven Little Rebels" by Rosemary Kasil is made up entirely of children of Ridgedale members.

Directed by Patricia Balfour, assisted by Mrs. Joseph Callouette, the cast includes Martha Stedding, Sus Potter, Margie Wiegand, Eric Wiegand, Pam Callouette, Barbara Beach, Mike McKenna and Valerie Snook.

Patty Beach, Martha Potter, Mary Strauss, Billy Beach, Richard Savage, Susie Wheaton, Harold Morse and Skip Strauss are also in the play.

Action of the play takes place in the neighborhood settlement house of a large city and concerns the efforts of a group of children to keep the institution from being closed. Costumes are being supervised by Mrs. Richard Baird. Properties are by Mrs. Nevill Geake. Makeup is handled by Mrs. Owen Bombard, and Stage by John Potter.

GENERAL CHAIRMAN for the show is Mrs. Philip Carrel. Curtain speeches will be made by Susan Carrel and Paul Seibold. Mrs. William Wiegand is in charge of refreshments. Bob Stook is handling the lighting. Hosts and Hostesses for Saturday, Feb. 18, are Christine Wiegand, Leslie Baird, Arthur Elliott and Tom Elliott. Hosts and hostesses for Sunday, Feb. 19 are Pat Kittle, Karen Kittle, Meredith and Christopher Bragg.

Alpha Xi Delta Couples Night

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Held, Beverly Rd., Birmingham, will open their home on February 20, for the annual Alpha Xi Delta "Couples Night."

At 7 p.m. the Robert Chases, Robert Shoemakers, of Royal Oak, and Glenn Kyker, of Birmingham, will greet and serve punch to the guests.

A candle light steak dinner is being planned with Mrs. Thomas Jensen, Mrs. Fred Burge, Mrs. Robert Mooney and Mrs. Richard England, all of Birmingham, doing the catering.

After dinner speaker will be George Erb of the Royal Oak Bricklayer Lumber Co. He will speak on the "Fundamentals of Wise Construction," and present a film on selecting ceiling materials.

Since this is the age of do-it-yourself, the husbands are expected to enjoy the question and answer period at the close.
