CWBC Picks Delegates

This year's annual credit conference will be held Feb. 11 to 14, at the Hotel Commodore ferry, Toledo, O. Many excellent speakers will be included on the program; with general and group sessions and a workshop for club presidents and delegates.

Birmingham CWBC will be hostesses this evening to Flint, Royal Oak and Mt. Clemens Credit clubs. Sixty dinner reservations have been made for the credit women and employers.

Geneva McQuatters, executive secretary of CWBC of NA will be the speaker. Miss McQuatters manages the administration of the international organization from her office in St. Louis, Mo.

Appointed By Duke U

Edward L. Henderson, North Glenhurst avenue, Birmingham, has been appointed to handle the annual campaign for funds for Duke University in the Birmingham area. This year's drive will begin Feb. 10.

Part of the regular loyalty drive, the campaign is supported each year by Duke alumni and will be one of 200 similar campaigns conducted throughout the United States.

In making the appointment, Duke president, Hollis Edgus, stated that the financial needs of the college, as is the case with every privately supported college and university in America are constantly pressing. He emphasized that funds are needed, not merely to sustain existence but to assure the highest quality in education.

This year's goal is $235,000. Assisting Mr. Henderson will be Dorothy Porritt, Latham drive, Harvey Jenkinson, Stanley Blvd. and Sidney W. Smith, Jr., Abbey road, all of Birmingham.
