Holiday Season Spent in Mexico, Couple Returns to Lathrup Home

By DOROTHY ZATELL

LATHRUP—Mr. and Mrs. Irwin R. Hussey have returned to their home on San Rosa from their 15th trip into Mexico. Motoring down through Texas, the Husseys changed their route a little this year to visit friends and former Detroiters in Brownsville.

About 18 miles south of Brownsville, they found Padre Island so much to their liking, they purchased several lots, on which they plan someday to build a home.

The island is a sandy key running about 130 miles north along the Gulf of Mexico as far as Corpus Christi. Texans hope that the island will eventually compete with Miami in popularity.

Although they spent Christmas Day in Brownsville, the Husseys were also able to enjoy the Mexican celebrations, since the beautiful country to the South continues holiday observations until Jan. 6.

IN THE OLD DAYS, the Mexican Christmas was climaxed on Jan. 6 with gifts from the three kings, but modern Mexican children are beginning to demand visits from Santa Claus on Dec. 25. Mrs. Hussey said.

swains and belles walk opposite sides of the avenue. "At first the parade takes on the appearance of a ritual with slow paces and shy glances, but little by little the boys grow bolder."

Southfield Schools Give Stanford Tests
Southfield eighth graders began taking the Stanford achievement tests this week. Tests are being given to help determine high school courses of study. The tests cover the fields of mathematics, science, modern language, Latin and language arts. Each test lasts approximately 40 minutes.

AFTER SO MANY visits South of the border, the Husseys find they have little trouble understanding the language of Mexico, or making themselves understood. Singing the praises of the colorful Mexican countryside and our neighbors, they have become ambassadors of goodwill.

Society deadline is 3 p.m. each Tuesday.
