MRS. OTTO J. MEHRINGER

Bride Wears Crown Fashioned in Germany

When Dolores Ann Gillee walked down the aisle of St. Alphonsus church, Dearborn, Saturday morning, to become the bride of Otto Joseph Mehringer, she was regally attired in a Queen Anne style gown of white silk shantung. On her head rested a silver crown set with rhinestones and pearls, designed and fashioned by the groom's grandfather, Andreas Herkommmer, of Schwabisch Gmund, Germany.

The bride, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Gillee, has been a teacher at Bartram school, Birmingham, for the past four years. She and her husband, the son of the Otto W. Mehringers of Dearborn, plan to reside in Dearborn after a month's wedding trip to Colorado.

GIVEN in marriage by her brother, Charles Gillee, of Chicago, the bride wore a gown of her own design. It featured a pannered neckline and Queen Anne collar. White gladioli and stephanotis were combined in her bouquet.

The attendants were dressed in identical blue silk shantung frocks styled with empire waists and full skirts. Pearl crowns and bouquets of white gladioli and blue bachelor buttons completed their ensembles.

MARY JANE Gillee of Ann Arbor was her sister's maid of honor and bridesmaids were Mrs. Robert Wojdylak of Detroit and Mrs. Werner Schenkrock of Royal Oak, sorority sisters of the bride when they were students at Wayne university.

Best man was Cyril Tucker and ushers were Charles Frenolo and Alexander Bergel, all of Dearborn. Following the nuptial high mass, a wedding breakfast was served in Dearborn Inn and an evening reception was held at the Harmonic club.
