Business C Recommended By Plan Board

Birmingham planning board Tuesday night reaffirmed its recommendation to zone the Lambert property Business C, and refused any recommendations on the proposed traffic changes for downtown Birmingham.

At the time the city commission received the plan board's original recommendation to zone the Lambert property Business C, office professional, it also received a request from the Lamberts for Business A, retail, zoning.

After further consideration the plan board held to its original decision that proper zoning would be Business C.

REFUSAL of any recommendations on the traffic proposal, submitted by the traffic engineer and the police chief and referred to the plan board by the city commission, was because it deserves further study, according to Herbert Herzberg, city planner.

The plan board is presently working on an alley program, and other aspects of the traffic proposal need consideration, he said. Discussion on North Woodward parking lot also terminated in a decision that further study was necessary.

IT WAS recommended that Kasabian - Frank's requests for change of zoning be approved as submitted with exception of the alley variation request.

Refractive property layout between Grant and Edgewood, west of Backs, was presented by Herzberg at the meeting.

Representatives from a real estate company, Leland Gier, director of public works, and Herzberg will meet again to work further on the development.
