Wonderful Time Report Area Residents in Europe

Local residents-touring Europe-are, according to word sent home, having an enjoyable time on their trips abroad. The telephone rang in the Ott home on Lahser road Saturday night, and between intermittent howls of the transoceanic cable, young Dale and Karen Ott heard the news that their parents, Col. and Mrs. Warren Ott were in Sweden and enjoying every minute of it.

Col. Ott is a guest of the Swedish government and made the trip over with a number of CAF exchange students. Mrs. Joyce Ott left here on a non-stop commercial flight her first trip abroad, in order to join the colonel in Sweden. Susan Kennedy, traveling with the language group from Bloomfield Hills high school, has written two long, newsy letters to her parents, the W. Murray Kennedys of tells that the William Shaws arrived abroad safely. Betty Shaw, who had mastered (she hoped) sufficient parlez-vous to get through the gift-bought places in France, was at that particular writing, seeing London with Bill Mrs. Lawrence Angevine and daughter, Paul of Carriage road are home again from their contest-European trip. The touch of irony with this bit of news is that the letter that won this enviable prize was almost never mailed.

Home, too, from Europe are Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Griswold of Pon Valley. They spent five weeks abroad, Switzerland and Belgium were on their tour with a two-week stay in Austria. The Waite Stoddard's young Christopher has arrived. The 7 pound, 14 ounce lad, named Christopher Waite, was born July 19. Nancy and Billy get their first peek at their new brother when he checks out of Beaumont hospital this week and arrives at his home on Golfview drive.

Wendy Sue, six-month old daughter of the George Strawwers, East Millersway, was christened at the First Methodist church, Royal Oak on July 17. The Rev. Paul Durham officiated, and Mr. and Mrs. John T. Black of Foxcroft were godparents. There was a buffet dinner later at the Strawwer home. The baby's godmother, Mrs. E. Strawwer, was there from Pleasant Ridge, and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Vance of Orchard Lake. Rev. Paul Durham and daughter, Ruth Evelyn, he, blackie, and Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Toley.

Carmel, that scenic bit of enchantment south of St. Francisville, is the destination of Mrs. John Hubert of Stoneleigh. She, with young Diane, Karen, Chris and Kurt are flying out this week for a stay in the cottage that looks over the Pacific ocean. Joseph Monaghan of Stoneleigh spent last weekend up at Turtle Lake.

The Robert Rucci of Carriage road are leaving for Los Angeles some day. This is not a vacation trip for Bob and Margaret Rucci - California will be their new home. There will be a change of address, too, for Mrs. Wayne Wilson, Jr. and her son, eight. They are moving from their split-level home in Lone Pine Village.

There will be a change of address, too, for Mrs. Wayne Wilson, Jr. and her son, eight. They are moving from their split-level home in Lone Pine Village. Mrs. Snowshoe Girdles Wally Burken is not the only local golfing talent being all in the fairways.

The Harold Christians' young grandson, Robert, has been staying with them in their South Millersway home. The Coleman Christians came from Elyria, Ohio, to pick up their son last weekend.

Mr. John Picou, Carriage road, was host at the last meeting of the Bridge club. Muriel Suhrer, Barbara Dawson and Carol Lehr were the prize winners.

Kiwanis Award SOUTHFIELD - Recipient of the Kiwanis L. A. Governor's 1956 award for inter-club activities is the Southfield club. Tom Myers was president and Warren Reid inter-club chairman that year.

Henry Artl Family Plans Another Trip to Southern Hunting Reserve

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Artl have returned from Tryon, N. C. where they purchased 35 acres of hunting land. Tryon, located near the border of South Carolina, was the scene of the recent Olympia horsemanship tryouts. The Artl's daughter, Arlene, is now visiting friends at Houghton Lake, but upon her return, the family plans another trip south.

Arlene is an accomplished rider and jumper in the English saddle. She recently tried the western saddle, and riding an Arabian stallion, was chosen to reign as queen over the rodeo held on the campus of Brigham Young university, in Provo, Utah. As queen, she led the parade and watched the events from the queen's box. Next year Arlene will be a sophomore at the university.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Evans and family have returned from a vacation at the Wisconsin Dells. They were particularly interested in the water skiing shows with Tommy Barlett, of radio and TV fame, as master of ceremonies. One of the most expert skiers was a young blond boy who had mastered many difficult tricks. The Evanses were interviewed by Tommy Barlett for one of his future shows over a local station, but unfortunately they had to leave for home before the program was broadcast.

Many Franklinites were on hand Sunday morning to welcome Rev. Milton Hoffman, guest minister at the Franklin Community church. Rev. Hoffman, local minister at the Franklin church, is returning to Franklin each summer. He is a regional director for the Unitarian church in Atlanta, Ga. Mr. and Mrs. Homer Hyde entertained Rev. Hoffman and their three children.

Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Barth entertained about 30 members of the Ferndale garden club at a potluck supper Sunday evening. Len Madge, Franklin men's association president, announced Harold Anderson and Robert Kerr will be co-chairmen of the annual barbecue fund-raising on the village green early in September. The program will be about the same as last year, but no games are scheduled. The definite date and committee chairman will be announced soon.

The Dick Probst family will soon be back in their home in Normandy after spending a month in California. Enroute they did lots of sightseeing, and Mrs. Probst's father in Oregon. They spent some time with friends in San Francisco, Los Angeles and Santa Barbara. According to the children, the best part of the trip was Disneyland.

Mrs. Gerald Wright left Sunday. With apologies to John Gunther, "Inside Isle Royale" is a subject for much reminiscing by the Kenneth Thompsons of Crestwood drive. As they blazed their own trail the length of the island, they couldn't help but wonder if there wasn't an easier way to spend a vacation.

"Now that it's over, it was wonderful fun and we wouldn't have missed it. But next time I'd like to take the easy way and see the island by boat," says Mrs. Thompson. It took them almost five days to cover the 35 mile Green Stone trail almost completely overgrown, and in most places hard to find without a compass. No one else had been over the trail this year, and only two people last year.

THE FIRST ten miles were deceiving, and they found the going easy. The second day they came to the rugged part and were able to cover only about two miles an hour. The thimbleberry was so thick they actually had to hack their way through it. The trail went continually up and down with only an occasional stretch of level ground. The Thompsons started out with about 60 pounds of gear on their backs, but when the going got so rough they left some of it along the way. Water was their biggest problem, not only for drinking, but as their food was all of the dehydrated type, they needed it for cooking, too. There are three lakes on the island, but unfortunately they are way below the actual trail.

In Grand Rapids. Last weekend Mr. and Mrs. James Robinson from Lake Bluff, Ill., and their son Robert, who will be doing graduate work next year at the U. of M. visited the Jennesses at their home on Woodside. Dr. and Mrs. Dwight Ensign will spend next week at the lodge at Northport Point. They will be accompanied by their son, Jim, his wife and young son, Johnnie. The William Worcesteres of Wing Lake road will entertain their bridge club tonight at a potluck supper.

Mrs. Emil Bates is visiting her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Worth Booth and son Brad, in Davenport, Iowa. day for Chapel Hill, N. C. to spend about 10 days with her first granddaughter, born July 16, weighing 6 lbs. or so. This is the first child for Mr. and Mrs. Don Stewart. Mr. and Mrs. Ford Finfgeld and family of Captain's lane are spending the week at their hunting lodge on the AuSable river, near Oscoda.

Combining business with pleasure, Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Scott spent last week in New York City. They also visited Mrs. Scott's parents in Elizabeth, N. J. While they were in New York, Mr. and Mrs. Jack LeClaire, of Royal Oak, stayed at their house. The LeClaires and their two boys, Craig, 4, and Jack, 13, soon will be moving into the house on German Mill formerly owned by Dr. and Mrs. William Jahsan.

Mrs. R. J. Hampton and son Tommy have returned after two weeks in Virginia with relatives. They divided their time between Lynchburg, Martinsville and Charlottesville. Mr. and Mrs. Irwin White and son, Steve, formerly of Franklin and now Cleveland residents, spent last weekend with the Dick Lewis family on Crestwood. Ann is spending the summer as a counselor at the Rehabilitation Center in New Hampshire. Next year she will be a freshman at Colorado college. Ann recently had several of her songs published in Hoffman.

Last weekend the Ed Greens entertained Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Matterson and their four children. The Mattersons always stop in Franklin on the way to Cape Cod from their home in Ames, Iowa. Mrs. Green and Mrs. Matterson were college friends and have since kept in close touch with each other. Mr. and Mrs. Tom Barnes of North Greenbrier left last week on a trip to England and Scotland where they will visit relatives. The Charles Merwins have returned from a two week vacation in Pennsylvania. Mrs. Merwin's sister, Mrs. Margaret Recupero from Kittanning, is spending the week with them. Mr. and Mrs. Philip Jones recently drove Mrs. Jones' mother, Mrs. D. J. Dinkelo, back to her home in Highland Park, Ill. Mr. and Mrs. Dinkelo came to Franklin about a month ago to celebrate their golden wedding anniversary with their daughter and other members of the family who live
