

BITS OF BIRMINGHAM

IF YOU WONDER whether or not Birmingham and nearby children have the opportunity of owning and using a variety of kid's bikes, wagons, scooters, etc., just take a walk about your neighborhood a few evenings. As you walk, better keep your eyes on where your feet are taking you—else you might stumble over some of this juvenile transportation equipment. Perhaps a large moving van might be filled up with this equipment . . . if some collector of such items decided to visit this area.

GEORGE THURMAN'S NEIGHBORS are admiring his large iris-filled garden at 223 E. Frank, Birmingham. "It's just beautiful!" exclaimed one woman who had just come from viewing it.

IF YOU VISIT any of Birmingham's three banks this week-end, you'll have a chance to contribute to the financing of the city's brand new ground observer post on E. Maple, just outside the city limits. It must be mortgage-free before the U.S. Air Force can accept it. An important part of the nation's military defense system is this ground observer effort, and Oakland county has become nationally noted for its successes and number of posts. Already about $600 has been contributed to the Birmingham post's cost. Another $900 is needed. If you don't have that chance today, tomorrow or Saturday to contribute in a bank lobby, that doesn't stop you from sending your check to the Oakland GOC chapter, it may be sent to Mrs. Melvina Eberle of Milford, Mich. (she is Oakland civilian volunteer coordinator), or mailed care of The Birmingham Eccentric, which will forward it.

EVEN DOGS need attention. One ole houn' dog which rode into Birmingham last week with its mistress, let her get only a few yards from the car before he jumped on the horn with his front paws and stayed there, blasting away until she came back, picked him up and put him in the back seat. The long-faced hound had a long, sorrowful look for amused passersby.

SEVEN CUB SCOUTS of den 1, Pack 31, Quarten school, and their fathers are going to see a Tiger baseball game this Saturday for free—but it won't be easy. It took a year of effort. The boys' parents consented to attend the monthly pack meetings for one year and den 1 received the pack's attendance award and the reward of a free baseball game. It will be a big day for them Saturday, starting with a swim in the backyard pool of the B. W. Crandall on Pleasant, a picnic and then on to the game. Each boy will receive a baseball autographed by their favorite Tiger player.

"WE THINK America is wonderful," said Mrs. Mary Dybel of 2575 Hickory Grove, Bloomfield Hills, after she read in BITS OF BIRMINGHAM that her lost parakeet had been found. "Dybel hadn't bothered to advertise for 'Mr. Peepers' because only the day after he was lost, she heard Arthur Godfrey broadcast that chances of recovering a parakeet are one in 100,000. The parakeet flew away from the Dybel residence near Pontiac on a Tuesday afternoon and she learned of him at her home on W. 11 Mile Friday. When Mrs. Dybel, who came here from England only recently, read that "Mr. Peepers" had been found, she said she and her family were even more convinced that America is a great place to live.
