

Barnum Choir of 30 Sings at Concert At Art Institute

Participating in a concert at Detroit Institute of Arts Tuesday evening were the 30 members of the Barnum junior high school symphonic choir, who performed three original compositions by their director, Majel Brevette. The seventh and eighth graders sang in the 17th annual program of original compositions by senior theory pupils of Lila Challis. Dorothy Joan accompanied the local school choir as they sang the three selections written by Miss Brevette, who is one of the senior theory pupils at the Detroit Conservatory of Music.

Cranbrook Student Receives Award

For outstanding work in the field of science and mathematics during his studies at Cranbrook school, Robert Vogel has been awarded the Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute award. The honor goes annually to the top student in mathematics and science who is interested in engineering.

Bob was one of 14 Cranbrook school graduates this year inducted into the Cum Laude society for students with high scholastic averages.

He was active in sports, earning a varsity letter, and was an editor of the school paper, "The Crane", along with working on the school yearbook.

He plans to major in mathematics at Amherst college, Amherst, Mass. His parents are the Armin H. Vogels, 1012 Timberlake drive, Bloomfield.

Press Club Honored At Barnum

Honors went to the 17 members of the Birmingham junior high school Press club last week at an awards luncheon.

Mrs. Kay Bronson, language arts teacher who is the club's adviser, presented each of the editors and reporters with gold pins in appreciation for their journalistic efforts during the school year.

Carolyn LeVan, editor, presented Mrs. Bronson with a gold bracelet, a gift from the club's members to their advisor, who is retiring at the end of the school year.

Luncheon committees decorated a special table in the cafeteria with bouquets of flowers and floral place cards. They also provided a special dessert of ice cream and homemade cakes.

Special guests at the luncheon were Barnum Principal Herbert Hingst and Mrs. Julie Candier of the Birmingham Eccentric.

PRESS CLUB MEMBERS honored, along with Carolyn LeVan, were Karen Pasutin, eighth grade assistant editor; Jaine Wolf, seventh grade assistant editor; and Sally McInathan, secretary.

Others were Faelette Bailey, Magy Lou Corsant, Suzanne Davis, Dee Dee Depner, Ted Eimer, Diane Ferguson, Nancy Jenson, Juan Lowke, Margaret McLeod, Judy Monk, Cindy Scott, Linda Steiner and Pat Warren.

Working their free time, the group published the school paper, "The Ink Splat" and issued weekly press releases containing Barnum junior high school news.

JUNE 17 FATHER'S DAY

Once each year the man of the house is afforded the privilege of reigning supreme as the king in his own castle. Once each year we draw aside that thin veil of faults that often obscures our vision and take a look at what a swell guy Dad really is.

Sunday, June 17 is HIS day, the day when we take the opportunity to express how we feel about Dad with some token of our affection.

At Higgins and Frank you'll find something which will be sure to coincide perfectly with what Dad feels is good taste.

Come in and select Dad's gift where he would buy it himself.
