Democratic Satire Casts B'ham Mayor in Leading Part

Birmingham Mayor James Allen will be one of the actors in a humorous satire to be presented Saturday, June 23, by the Oakland County Democrats.

"Gullible's Travels" is the name of the production, to be seen at 8:30 p.m., in the auditorium of Berkley high school.

Allen, part of a cast of 30, is cast as a public relations man. The story concerns a fellow named "Gullible", who travels through Republican offices from the local to the national level, and finally decides to throw away his "I Like Ike" button and join the Democratic party.

THE OAKLAND County Democratic committee, which is sponsoring the play, hopes the comedy will help swing the county to the Democrats this fall.

Delegates to the national Democratic convention in Chicago may see parts of the show. The script is being sent by State Democratic Chairman Neil Stahler to the convention planners.

Other members of the cast from Birmingham are Mrs. Donald McGee and Harry J. Metrowan.

P. C. LAWRENCE D. PECK graduated last month from the microwave radio equipment repair course of the Signal school at Fort Monmouth, N. J. Prior to entering service in August, 1955, Peck graduated from University of Michigan. His wife, Carol, resides in Eatontown, N. J., and his father is R. C. Peck of Birmingham Blvd.

Both the homes and gardens were on display with interior floral arrangements provided by other members of the club.

Penny Cowin who also lives on Half Moon entertained 10 of her classmates and neighbors at a birthday dinner Monday on her ninth birthday.

Moving to the village recently from their home on Washington boulevard, Birmingham, are Mr. and Mrs. Walter Swartz and two children Mary Ellen, 8, and Jimmy J. The family now live on Clifton road. Mr. Swartz is affiliated with Ford Motor Co.

Entertaining about 30 classmates from the seventh grade at Barnum school, at her first "grown-up" party last night was Nancy Jane Stecker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bricker, 932 North Glenary road.

Following a barbecue dinner on the patio, guests dined under Japanese lanterns and flowers, frozen in ice floated in the punch bowl.

Assisting the Broekers, were Nancy aunt and uncle from Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Gerhardt, and Nancy's brother Chuck.
