Pyrotechnists, "Eloise" Mimics Hit Mailboxes
Mailboxes were the target for mischief makers last week. Thursday morning R. P. Mahor, 1240 W. 11 Mile, discovered his mailbox had been blown up with a firecracker. The pyrotechnists were believed to have lit the fuse and dropped the firecracker from an automobile before they sped away.
"Eloise" of record fame might have been the inspiration for the trouble with a mailbox at Norwich and Derby. Birmingham Postmaster Gene Heers told police the mail was getting wet, and youngsters were reported seen pouring water into the box.

"GULLIBLE'S TRAVELS," a humorous satire, had three Birmingham people in its cast when it went on stage Saturday in the Berkley high school auditorium. Birmingham Mayor James Allen (seated) had lead role in the play presented by the Oakland County Democrats. Supporting roles were played by Mrs. Donald McGehee and Harry J. McGowan.
