Barnum Players Open "Haunted Tea Room"

When Barnum Junior Players present their spring production, "The Haunted Tea Room" tomorrow night, twice the usual parents will see their offspring perform.

The reason: Miss Lyta McCormick, dramatic director, has chosen two players for each of the nine roles in the three-act mystery comedy scheduled for matinee and 8 p.m. performances at the school.

Parents of Barnum orchestra members will hear their young musicians entertain with selections such as "The Flieidermaus" excerpts, under the direction of Robert Kutscher.

DIRECTOR MCCORMICK explains she casts two in each role to give stage experience to more students.

Parts are being shared by Marilyn Michaels and Marilyn Collins, Barbara Sommers and Jane Goheske, Bud Guilmet and Mike Emery, Robin Odle and John Phillips, and Jane Griffith and Melanie Eklund.

Other digs are Tracy Miller and Joyce Kettlar, Jeff Finley and Jay Thompson, Tom Spierling and Don Van Doren, and Kenni Cowan and Susan Walbert.

BETWEEN MAJOR productions given for parents, the dramatic club entertains school assemblies with one-act plays.

Donald Van Doren is the club's president, Jane Griffith is vice president, and Sue Bilis is secretary-treasurer.

Miss Lyta McCormick, faculty advisor, guides rehearsals almost daily after school.

MISS LYTA MCCORMICK, faculty advisor, guides rehearsals almost daily after school. She is directing "The dramatic club is time-consuming, Miss McCormick admits, but worth it, she feels, when she sees young talent developing.

"These kids are amazing for seventh and eighth graders," she says.

"There is a semi-professional quality to their acting. We might even have some potential stage and screen stars here!"

BHHS Students Take Lists in Forensics District Contest

Two Bloomfield Hills high school students won first place in their division at the recent Michigan high school forensic district contest in Clawson.

Dick Bailey, 11th grader, won first in the extemporaneous speaking division, with Mary Stacey taking second place.

Bill Stouffer was the only contest participant to win first from all three judges, placing first in humorous reading.

The two winners will enter regional contests early in April.

Other Bloomfield Hills students participating were Carol Brodie and Bob Stradwick.

Besides being the motor capital of the world, Detroit is also the salt center of the United States. Located in the city as well, are some of the country's largest drug and rubber manufacturing plants.

Southfield High Notes

Winners of the Southfield competition will spend a busy day today in Farmington attending the district forensics tournament.

Winning speakers will enter the regional competition to be held at Southfield high school the end of April.

Teachers and students are looking forward to attending the state basketball finals to be held in Lansing Friday and Saturday evenings.

Applications for honor awards are available to Southfield students in the counseling office.

Students having as many "A's" as "B's" may apply for high honors in scholastic standings. Others having "A's" and "B's" regardless of number may apply for honors, and those having as many "A's" as "C's" may apply for honorable mention.

Perfect attendance awards will be given, plus special awards in science, English, math, social studies and languages.

Awards will be made retroactive to Southfield's first graduation class of 1954, and students qualifying will have their names engraved on a special plaque or trophy to be displayed in the school.
