The Robert Kloors Return From South American Cruise

Home again from traveling afar are the Robert Kloors of Lanergan drive. They embarked from New York on a cruise to South America. Interesting highlights were the four ports to which they stopped.

Curacao, Netherlands West In Dutch architecture and colorful nation, they report, suggests a world (two costumes). La Guaira, Venezuela of make-believe with its quaint elia, they said, has one of the most dramatic settings of any port on the globe, its buildings scattered up the slopes of these mountains rising from the sea to a height of about two miles. On to the next stop at Puerto Cabello, the outlet for the very productive agricultural district around Valencia and Maracay.

Cartagena, Colombia, a walled city, the last stop, was of particular interest to the Kloors with its old port and famous forts, dark dungeons and underground tunnels. The Kloors were thrilled and delighted with every aspect of the trip.

The League of Women Voters, Unit 4 met last week at the home of Mrs. L. J. Keeler of Orchard Hill drive, Hickory Heights. Subject for the evening was a study of village, township and city governments. Many area members attended a LWV general meeting at the Community House Monday when a skit on world trade was presented.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Frahm of 3490 Westchester, Eastover Farms, entertained their bridge club. The six couples belonging to the club have known each other since elementary and high school days.

Cub Scouts of Pack 34 held their monthly meeting last week. Several Cubes were given awards. A film on submarine training, "Take Her Down" was shown.
