Local Eagle Scout Visits Ford Plants

Three Eagle Scouts, interested in careers in agricultural engineering, spent a day last week with officials of the Tractor and Implement Division, Ford Motor Company, as part of their vocational guidance program. The three boys are David Chalk, 230 Big Beaver road, Birmingham, who is a member of Explorer Post B-4; Alexander Clark, 3800 Walnut Lake road, Pontiac, who belongs to Post B-17; and John Sharon, 535 Claremont, Dearborn, who is in Explorer Unit 11.

THE BOYS were taken for a tour of Ford's Tractor Plant in Highland Park, where they saw the latest techniques applied to the manufacture of farm and industrial tractors. They then visited Deer Lake Hills Farm near Clarkston. On this farm, used by Ford for training and experimental purposes, the youths operated the latest model tractors.

Their afternoon was spent at the division's Research and Engineering Center in Birmingham, observing the methods used in developing and testing new farm equipment, and discussing the vocational opportunities in the farm equipment industry. M. D. Hill, divisional assistant general manager, met with the boys at the conclusion of their visit.

Three executives from Tractor and Implement Division accompanied the boys to the Sherraton Cadillac Hotel that evening for a recognition banquet honoring approximately 150 Detroit-area scouts who attained the rank of Eagle during the past year.
