a figure eight, backing up and changing horses and answering questions.

FIRST AWARD for this class was the Aiken Club Perpetual trophy for advanced horsemanship won by Larry Turner.
Hareback horsemanship in class 26 was won by Joe Racine.
Adult and junior pairs judged at the walk, trot and canter were won by father and daughter team riding Gunner and Misty Morn, Dave and Donna Mieninger.
Bobby Cook rode Captain Rock to victory in class 28.

Class 29, open pairs, was judged at the walk, trot and canter. The event permitted entrants to dress in costume or decorate the horses in any fashion they chose. The winners were Marie Hammill and Nancy Brundage.

SOME of the winners were dressed as mice and other costumes included the Lone Ranger and Tonto, but their horses failed to be true to form—they didn't ride to victory.

Riding Mighty One, Sue Van Hook was the winner for over the fence; Julie Woodbridge rode White Cloud to victory in class 31; and for class 32, more advanced horsemanship, the rider was Larry Turner. First place in class 33 was taken by Joe Racine.

The final event was between the two drill teams competing for the trophy which was donated and presented by Tom Outland, to Drill Team No. 2.

Fussy negotiations such as figure eights, wheel right and left by sixes and alternate criss-crosses were beautifully performed by both teams providing a spectacular finish to the show.

Suburban Club Elects Bob Page At Dinner Dance

Fisherman's Paradise" was the theme of the Suburban club's monthly dinner-dance meeting Saturday at Indianwood country club, at which officers were elected.

Lawrence Hafstad Narrates TV Show From GM Center

With the eyes of the nation on the General Motors technical center this past week, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hafstad were busy with some of the tremendous activity that heralded the huge plant's opening. Hafstad, with GM's research laboratory, like others close to the scene, was busy with press conferences and TV rehearsals. He narrated the Wednesday night CBS television show that originated from the center at 6 p.m.

Here from Washington D. C. for the opening ceremonies were Gen. and Mrs. Ralph Wessell and Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Merkel. Mrs. Wessell and Mrs. Merkel were guests of Mrs. Hafstad, and the general show in the Hafstad home on Lauren court.

A German-born former newspaper cartoonist, who came to this country as a war bride eight years ago, and her husband, Dr. Hal Aulie, moved into a new home on Orchard Bend, Johanna and Hal Aulie, who attends Vaughan; Mark, 7, and Sharon, 2. Johanna's hobbies are painting, piano and singing, of course.

The John Kiras are newcomers to a home on Orchard Bend. Margaret and John have four children—Barbara, three children—David, 7, and Sharon, 2. Johanna's hobbies are painting, piano and singing, of course.

The 200 Inace club held its annual formal party at Birmingham country club Saturday evening. There was a cocktail party at the Howard Schwepes on Centennial Lane before party-goers left for the club. The Edward Hullenbecks attended so did the Charles Bays, the Robert Wilsons and the Roy Pabls.

If the grey overcast of local skies detracts from some of the charm of spring, memories of the magnolia-scented countryside of Virginia will give the Bob Dusseaus of Carriage road a more cheerful outlook. Home after a week's stay at the Farmington country club at Arlington, the Dus-

Opera Association Plans Annual Meet
The Women's Association for the Michigan Opera company will have its annual luncheon meeting at the Women's City club, 1 p.m. May 22. The meeting will include elections, admission of new members and a discussion of activities for the coming operatic season.

The Association was formed last fall by a group of women who are interested in promoting a resident opera company in Detroit. Members from the Birmingham area are Mrs. Judge W. Beaudin, Mrs. Gilbert S. Borgequist, Mrs. Matthew Cammareri, Mrs. Thomas Salk House, Mrs. Lawrence S. Heintz, Mrs. Frederick L. Merriott and Mrs. Syver K. Thingstad.

took to traveling like a veteran, hopped around Florida's east and west coasts, with a short stay at the Driftwood, Vero Beach.

One can bet that the query, "Remember when—" was heard any number of times Tuesday when long-time friends met as guests of Mrs. Henry Van Vurst, Jr. in her home on Ardmore. Former school chums, Mrs. Katherine Benzon, Rose Lim and Mrs. Bernice Carmichael of Grosse Pointe were the guests. Saturday guests in the Van Vurst home were Mr. and Mrs. Ted Jenson of Lathrup and Mr. and Mrs. Glen Westbury of Bellevue Trail.

May birthdays: Honey Sue Piceu, daughter of the John Piceus of Carriage road, will be five on May 28 and will celebrate with a party the 26th. Tiny neighbor, Elizabeth Kueci, daughter of the Robert Kuecis, celebrated her third birthday May 6.
