

France to Honor Cranbrook Students For Manuscripts

CRANBROOK — The government of France will honor four Cranbrook school students by awarding them each a bronze medal for their prize-winning manuscripts in a recent national French contest. The medals, now en route from France, will be received by Jonathan Himmelhoch, James Sniderman, Fred Brendler, and Michael Freeman. All four boys have been studying French under Mr. Howard R. Coan, chairman of the French department at Cranbrook.

IT WAS "SOIREE" a Paris' which themed the seventh graders' dance at Holy Name school Friday, so the 97 students and their parents fittingly paraded through a replica Arc de Triomphe during the grand march. From left are Judy Larkins, Dale Ubas, Maureen Miralito, and Greg Oddy. Students had transformed the school gym into a springtime Parisian scene, with sidewalk cafe, an artist painting, flowers and miniature Eiffel towers. Their teachers are Sister Immaculata and Miss Patricia Lyons.

BARNUM JUNIOR HIGH NEWS

The annual spring concert of Barnum school instrumental music department will be held in the school auditorium tomorrow night at 8 p.m.

Four groups participating in the program are the junior high orchestra, junior high band, seventh grade clarinet quartet, and the seventh and eighth grade flute trio. The orchestra is made up of 40 members. The band has 80 members.

Selections will include marches, overtures and selections from the classics.

Mr. Harold Jones, director of the Adams school band, will be guest soloist, performing on the cornet. Tickets are available from band and orchestra members.

10 Area Students Win Scholarships

Winners of Regents Alumni scholarships to the University of Michigan were announced this week by the university.

Scholarships carry a stipend equivalent to freshman semester fees and are maintained through college, as long as students' academic records justify.

Area students receiving scholarships are John Braddock, 707 Emmons, a Birmingham high school student, and Jerome Char, of Royal Oak, student at Troy high school. From Bloomfield Hills, high school, James E. Sackles, 519 Cherokee Lane, was awarded a scholarship.

Cranbrook School To Hold Memorial To War Dead

CRANBROOK — In commemoration of the 37 alumni who lost their lives during World II, students and faculty of Cranbrook school will conduct a special Memorial Day service at 2:30 p.m. on May 30.

The service will be highlighted by an address from the president of the alumni association, Alan E. Schwartz, class of 1943.

Mrs. James B. Jones of Grosse Pointe will place a wreath at the base of the memorial scholarship fund plaque.

Mrs. Jones was the mother of Robert and James Jones, both of whom attended Cranbrook school before they were killed.

Journalists Honored At Luncheon

The diamond star award to the most valuable publications member was presented to Karin Martin and Judy von Rosen at the publications luncheon recently.

The award voted annually by both the Piper and Highlander staffs resulted in a tie this year, and two awards were presented. Runners up were Ann Gardner, Posh Wagner and Don Weir.

Receiving Quill and Scroll honor society pins were Ann Gardner, Dick Street, Judy von Rosen, the only junior to receive the award since 1937, Don Weir, Elinor Dodge and Deloris Dimes.

QUILL AND SCROLL business awards went to Jane Palmer and Posh Wagner.

Earning Quill and Scroll editorial awards were Dave Phillips, Karin Martin, Selvia Kootenow, Jay Lewis, Kitten James and Dick McHugh.

The National scholastic yearbook association gold seal for superior work by yearbook staff members was presented to Barbara Ritter of the Piper editorial staff and Bob Omsvick for photography.

Dave Phillips was the MC, and Dick Street and Jay Lewis provided entertainment for the 60 budding journalists who attended the luncheon.

Sue Booker and Linda LaMare were co-chairmen of the luncheon.
