

Gardeners, the World is Yours!

By ALICE WESSELS BURLINGAME
Special Writer for The Birmingham Eccentric

LONDON: The title of this column denotes good practical information, and it is a temptation to tell you about the fine English people I have met on this horticultural expedition.

The story every day has the same beginning: breakfast in bed, a walk in the park, a visit to the gardens on the right.

The final schedule calls for an early departure by buses and motor cars.

ON THIS SITE, over 30 student gardeners study for over two years and these representatives from all over the world will be the future savorers of world famous gardens. All plants are well labeled.

Later this week, I will be returning to sketch and study the new introductions we could use for our own gardens. I feel as though we are apt to be content with unimaginative rock gardens. Today their rhododendrons and waxes were in all of their glory. To continue interest in these beds they used a jumble collection of things which would give a show later. Near the front of the bed, various groupings of hosts were also present to give an August interest.

THE CHARMING English woman in her garden not only took me home with her and gave me a raincoat, but had a warm dinner for me when the borrowed coat was returned later. She insisted me to have dinner with her family and offered to give me to Windsor Castle.

Today a similar story was repeated. When you have gardening as a hobby, believe me, the world is yours.

Today's office of the editors of a national garden magazine, Noel Prickett, took me to the West of England. There are over 200 acres of formal gardens you will see most of the plants known in the world which can be grown in a moderate temperature and subject to some frost.

Expected Much...and Got More!

He had heard it time and again from his friends who drive Cadillacs.
He had heard, for instance, of Cadillac's marvelous performance... and of Cadillac's great comfort and handling ease... and of the personal satisfaction that comes to the man at the wheel.
And so, when he accepted the keys to his first Cadillac car just a little while ago, he thought he knew what to expect from the "car of cars".
Well, here he is—only a few short miles out on his maiden journey—and he's learning a great truth about Cadillac: that nothing can adequately prepare a man for Cadillac ownership, save the experience itself.
How, for instance, could anyone fully foresee the joys of owning a new Cadillac? It gives a man a sense of pride and a feeling of fulfillment that literally defy description.
Or how could anyone anticipate the thrill of driving a new Cadillac? Smooth and quiet... eager and responsive... restful and relaxing—it simply has no counterpart on the world's highways.
And how could anyone possibly foreknow the many other pleasures that await him at the wheel... the joy of finding that his Cadillac, with all its quality and character, is among the most practical of motor cars to own and operate... and the satisfaction we believe he will find in his relationship with us as his Cadillac dealer—and in our honest concern with his motoring well-being.
Yes, it's a wonderful thing, this education in the ways of Cadillac ownership—and we sincerely hope that you will stop in soon for a personal preview of the experience.
We think you will be delighted to learn how quickly you can get delivery and to find how much your current car is worth to us in trade.
