Artie Teaches Figures To Pembroke Students

By JULIE CANDLER

Without saying a word, "Artie," as he is affectionately known to the class, is rapidly teaching multiplication tables.

The gaily-attired little fellow is just like one of the class to Pembroke school fourth grade students of Miss Doris Stretlein.

His full name is "Arithmetic Artie." Miss Stretlein, who is 22 years old and in her first year of teaching created him. When the daily 15-minute period for Artie's instructing arrives, it's like recess to the eager pupils.

Back in his place on the window ledge, Artie doesn't say a word. But he wears a mighty proud smile on his happy face.

think Artie should get some of the credit for it.

Back in his place on the window ledge, Artie doesn't say a word. But he wears a mighty proud smile on his happy face.

FOR ARTIE sugar-coats the sometimes bitter pill of multiplication tables by making a game of them. First of all, the cardboard and construction paper character is placed before the class by two lucky students chosen by Miss Stretlein.

Another pupil, selected to be the pointer, points to one of the multiplication tables on either side of Artie, such as 4 x 1, 4 x 2, and so on. Then the pointer asks a class member for the correct answers. If the questioned pupil knows the answers, he takes the pointing stick and calls on another classmate.

AS SOON AS one of Artie's times tables is mastered, Miss Stretlein adds a new one. "They're learning their multiplication very well," says Miss Stretlein of her pupils, "and I

The student contribution to the Torch Drive is $400 over our goal. The amount collected was $1,313.00.

The first PTA Meeting was held in the Derby cafeteria last Wednesday. Mr. Don Perry was elected temporary chairman.

On Halloween night, the Derby ninth grade will have a dance at the Community House, while the seventh and eighth grades will meet back at the school for entertainment. The party will be from 8:15 p.m. to 10:30 p.m.
