

Most people depend upon the appearance of characterful leaders to help guide them over the rough and stormy seas of life. Over the centuries, there have been many such men and women, whose lives stand out as safe beacons to guide us. But, of course, we must learn about such wonderful "guides", and honestly try to emulate them.

MRS. RAYMOND E. HARRINGTON

Marriage Solemnized At Kirk-in-the-Hills

Linda Shepherd Hall and Raymond Eugene Harrington exchanged wedding vows and rings Nov. 3 in Kirk-in-the-Hills church.

Following the rites, solemnized by Dr. Harold DeWitt, the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Shepherd of Ranch Lane, Bloomfield Hills, entertained at a reception in their home.

LINDA'S copen blue floor length taffeta gown was complemented by a hat and gloves in a deeper shade of blue. White orchids, ivy and white baby mums were combined for her bouquet.

Maid of Honor Jane Reid of Detroit was gowned in a copen blue velvet sheath accented by a taffeta overskirt. She carried blue and white carnations and mums and her headpiece and gloves were of velvet.

SERVING as an usher for his brother's wedding was David Harrington. They are sons of Mr. and Mrs. Harold C. Harrington of Detroit. Also seating guests were the bride's brother, William Shepherd, and Graham Gibson of Detroit. Arthur Koch of Detroit was best man. Mrs. Shepherd chose a lake blue satin for her daughter's wedding day and the mother of the groom wore aqua crepe.

Appeal for Funds Nov. 29 to Aid Muscle Disease

When Mrs. Gene A. White, president of Birmingham Junior League asked Mrs. Robert Baxter to represent the league at the Oakland County Muscular Dystrophy board little did she realize what a momentous assignment the diminutive lady would return with.

Sue Baxter couldn't resist the opportunity to help fill the need the association has for presenting their works and requirements to the citizens of Birmingham.

Right now she is lining up scores of volunteers who will make the mothers' march Thursday, Nov. 29, between 7 and 9.

Reed B. Scotts In Town for Visit
