

SUBURBAN SCENE

Oak for Thanksgiving dinner. John is home for the weekend from Hillsdale, where he is a junior, and a member of Delta Tau Delta.

Queens Return from Venezuela

Back from Caracas, Venezuela, where the temperature ranged from 75 to 80 degrees and a beautiful view of the coastal Andes could be seen from their hotel window, are Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. McQueen and sons, Dick and John, of Henley drive.

Gone from home since early September, they found Caracas a very interesting city, with the old plazas providing a sharp contrast to the new ultra-modern buildings.

Trips into the mountains and to surrounding cities were taken during their stay . . . a sight to be remembered was the pig heads hanging up for sale along with other meats in the market at Junguito.

Also home for the holiday to join the family scene around the festive board will be daughters Cathy and Betsy. A resident assistant at Snyder dormitory at Michigan State university, Cathy is an MSU grad and is taking some extra courses in political science, economics and French. Betsy's a sophomore at Alma where she also works in the library. Last week, she served as costume chairman for a play given at the college.

The family will be in Pleasant Ridge tomorrow for dinner at the Harold S. Athertons.

Turkey and Trimmings at Goodhues

Turkey and all the trimmings will be in evidence at the Dunblaine road, Beverly Hills, home of the H. M. Goodhues. Daughter Carole, a sophomore at U of M, is bringing home Pat Ellis of Connecticut for the weekend. They'll all trek to the Birmingham high school-Royal Oak football game in the morning.

Carole appeared recently as a dancer in the chorus of the sophomore show, "Good News." Her dad went over for Fathers' Weekend, Nov. 10, attending the U of M-Illinois football game and also the Illinois Glee club concert.

Holiday in New Mexico

While many local coeds are bringing home friends for Thanksgiving, Mary Zakoor will travel to Roswell, New Mexico, to be the guest of Jeanne Schnader. The daughter of the William Zakoor of Kinross road, Southfield township, she is a senior at Loretto Heights college near Denver, Colo.

Cast Stages Party at Lauers

The BHS-Royal Oak football game is a must for the Robert J. Lauers and their children as it is for many Birmingham families . . . Jane and Bob, students at U of M, plan to be with their parents for the holiday. Last weekend was a busy one for the Lauers . . . Bob had a role in the operetta given by the U of M Gilbert and Sullivan society at Rackham auditorium in Detroit Friday night . . . and after the performance, the entire cast and crew assembled for a gala all-night party at the Lauer home on Marblehead drive.

Invited by Mr. and Mrs. Lauer to take part in the festivities along with the 100 students, were Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Potancik, the Oscar Mezeys, Ned Nickels and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Roberts.

The gang gathered around the piano for singing, strummed ukuleles, played bridge and listened to records as the dawn approached. Jane brought her roommate, Jan Van-
