

MRS. JOHN R. McLEAN

Cathedral Train Accents Gown of Saturday Bride

St. Hugo of the Hills was the scene Saturday of the ceremony which united in marriage Patricia Ann Shev and John Robert McLean. The Rev. Francis Stack officiated at the 10 o'clock rites followed by an afternoon reception at Rotunda Inn.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Shev of Colonial Way, Bloomfield Hills. Her husband's parents are the Kenneth McLeans of Sylvan Lake. A cathedral train accented the bridal gown of white taffeta with alencon lace trim. Her fingertip veil fell from a Queen's Crown of lace and pearls.

MARGARET Basco was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Jo Ann

Liborio, bride's cousin, and Paula Thayer, groom's cousin, Lois Klein and Janet Sweeney.

Their gowns were of red velvet with matching shoes and headpieces. They carried white mums.

William Perkins was best man. Seating the guests were Gilbert Biselchini, bride's cousin, Donald Thompson, groom's cousin, William Dean, William Archambeau and Theodore Sweeney.

The couple will travel through the middle east on their honeymoon.

George Gormans to Entertain At Holiday Cocktail Party

Getting holiday festivities off to a start are Mr. and Mrs. George T. Gorman of Glengarry road who will entertain some 35 guests at a cocktail party in their home Nov. 23. The house is to be decorated with a Thanksgiving decor.

Mr. F. M. Garwood and son Billy of North Williamsbury road have just returned from a flying trip to Missouri. They had a two-fold purpose for their trip as they spent a few days in St. Louis visiting Mrs. Garwood's mother, Mrs. R. H. Brothers and then flew on to Columbia, Mo. to visit Maureen, the Garwoods' daughter who is in her freshman year at Stephens College.

Mrs. E. H. Todd of Birmingham made the trip with Mrs. Garwood to visit her daughter Penny, also a student at the college.

Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Gillen of Chetown Cross road have had as houseguests for the past few weeks Mrs. Gillen's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Marks from Redlands, Calif. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Huntoon of Williamsbury road and daughter Jihani spent last weekend visiting daughter Carolyn a freshman at Cornell University. As both Mr. and Mrs. Huntoon are graduates of the University they looked forward to returning to the familiar campus and seeing some of their friends who are faculty members.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam L. Marshall Jr. of Half Moon road and eldest son John traveled to Washington D. C. recently. The Marshalls enjoyed showing their son the Capitol's points of interest, before they traveled on to historic Williamsburg, Jamestown and Yorktown before returning home. The trip proved to be most educational from nine-year-old John's viewpoint.

Ward W. Dworschak of Roland drive attended the boy scout district one annual meeting held in Royal Oak last week and was elected member at large on the district board.

A. C. Childs of Westwood and Kenneth W. Thompson of Ardmore road also attended the meeting and were appointed local council representatives.
