Holiday Fair at Community Church To Feature Hand-Made Gift Items

"See you at the fair" is the rallying word being passed these days in Lathrup. Of course it means the annual holiday fair to be held by Community church starting at 11:00 a.m. Saturday, Dec. 1.

Hand-made jewelry, leather goods, hand-painted china, toys and accessories are some of the many items for sale. Warnings are posted of an early raid on the party shelf which features jams and relishes, salad dressings, pies, and naturally, the fruit cake for which the ladies are noted.

A "hidden treasure" booth that sounds like a miniature fair in itself is featured; the mystery of the parcel post packages is always fun. A major drawing card is the baked ham dinner, served from 5:00 to 7:30 p.m., and a snack bar will be open from 11:00 to 2:30.

Mrs. Gerald Wicks, general chairman, has announced there will be movies and some unusual electronic games for the children while the grown-ups enjoy the linen and aprons.

The LeRoy Clines of Saratoga received their most important holiday gift before Thanksgiving; a first granddaughter, Karen Cline Day, born Nov. 8 at Cherry Pointe, North Carolina.

Mrs. Cline left last week to visit her daughter, Barbara, and son-in-law Lt. John W. Day, and will be joined this weekend by Mr. Cline.

The Alan Millers of Greenwood will be Thanksgiving hosts to the family of Mrs. Miller's brother,

Guests of the club for the evening were George and Mary Ritter, John and Ellen Matiland, Bill and Peg Wilson, Kara and Norma Trops, Steve and Eleanor Slavick, Chuck and Bonnie Russell and Bud and Jane Marocco.

Appointment of two new room mothers has been announced by the Lathrup PTA. Mrs. Jack Kimball will replace Mrs. James Dunn for the 5th grade and Mrs. Eldon Ballard will replace Mrs. Joseph Doyle for the 6th grade. This replacement was necessary because Mrs. Dunn's and Mrs. Doyle's children have been transferred out of Lathrup school.

While all the rest of the neighborhood slept Saturday morning, lights glowed in the Pfister, Mueller, Marshall, Herr and Ushman homes at 3 a.m.

By 4 a.m. ardent pheasant hunters tased duck hunters from Explorer post LC-1 were on their way to Harsen Island. There was breakfast at 5 a.m. on the road, followed by a long cold day watching wise little ducks keep out of inexperienced fellows who came for dinner.

Experienced duck hunters R. H. Ushman and A. E. Pfister told the boys that the afternoon was too warm for good duck hunting, that the weather should be colder, grayer, and gloomier and the chiding explorers wondered how that could be possible.

Navied nimrods on the trip were Darryl Pfister, Bill Mueller, Steve Marshall, Al Herr, and Gary Ushman.

Aside from two members who were slightly homesick and in need of quick diversion, brownie troop 300 report a wonderful weekend spent at Greenfield Village getting their first taste of overnight camping.

Lathrup Scouts Plan Annual Sale of Wreaths, Trees

LATHRUP—Boy scouts of troop LC-1 soon will be making their annual call taking orders for Christmas wreaths and Southfield Optimist club Christmas trees.

As in previous years, the wreath will be large and full, decorated with pine cones, red berries and large red bows. Since this is the only fund drive the troop has during the year, the boys hope residents will wait their call before deciding upon door decorations.

South of the Border Visited By Gilbert Lake Families

South of the border is a favorite spot with area residents, and the Jack Sleans of Snowshoe circle have returned from a two-week stay in sunny Acapulco.

The Joseph Onos of Winlake are in Mexico now. They flew to Mexico City, then went on to Acapulco and will make the jaunt north to Los Angeles before returning home.

Ted Brewster and his October bride, the former Mary Dimiceli of Detroit have returned from their trip to the Smoky mountains and are making their home, at least temporarily on Lauren court. Ted is the son of the Samuel Brewsters.

The Harry Atens young Bob of Quorton road appeared in the finale number of Dr. Maurice Garabrandt's November recital at Cranbrook church. Bob's piano solo was "Ochsenmutter" by Haydn.

The Harry Atens were up to while mother broves a weekend trip. Mr. Pleasant for a weekend trip.

The William Coopers of Quorton road have returned from their recent New York trip. They saw, of course, some of the shows and had a visit with the Walter Grants former Wing Lake residents now living in Greenwich, N. Y.

Barbara Schulte's get-together last week was a farewell party for young David Mores, whose parents, the Barclay Mores of Lone Pine Village, will be making their home in the east in December. At the Schulte home on Ranch lane was little newcomer Nancy Lee, Bob and Ken Wood, Pat Caldwell, Mike Hanna and Sarah Shepherd. Duncan Seaman of Quorton road spent last weekend hunting with William Loughan. They drove up to Grayling.

Women's Bowling League members bowling Monday at Bloomfield Bowling Lanes were Mrs. Robert Wilson, Mrs. Charles Roy, Mrs. Howard Schweppe, Mrs. Roy Pahl and Mrs. William Cooper.

Bernard Hofmann, son of the August Hofmanns of Lahser road, entered his teens Sunday. Six classmates joined him to see the program at the theatre, and then the crowd hurried back to the Hofmann home for hot dogs.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark Duffy have company to share that big bird that will be served tomorrow. Their daughter, Mrs. Gordon Keating of Milwaukee, with her children Anne, Jeanie and Barry will be guests at the Maple road home until after the holiday.

Bloomfield Village school held an open house Monday night. Refreshments were served guests who came to meet the teachers and see the classrooms.

Oakland Hills Subdivision Association held a dinner meeting for members Wednesday, Dec. 5.
