

BITS OF BIRMINGHAM

A CITYWIDE APARTMENT HUNT is under way by members of the Congregational church of Birmingham. They are looking for a home for four new arrivals in Birmingham. Mr. and Mrs. Napoleon Magniez, formerly of Holland and Indonesia, and their six and eight-year-old daughters. On this week's church pages you can read about this interesting couple whose entry into the United States was sponsored by the local church. You can help them a lot, too, if you know of a likely apartment for them. The Rev. Robert D. Dewey at the church office would appreciate any leads.

SO PROUD IS THE U.S. GOVERNMENT of the work of sculptor Marshall Fredericks, 875 Waddington, Bloomfield Village, that it recently distributed an illustrated article about his sculpture to 200 newspapers around the world. Released through the U.S. Information Service, the story was translated into every written language, and went to all of the civilized nations. Fredericks, said author Norman Smith, "has demonstrated how truly great works of art can be fitted into the spirit of an architectural theme." Fredericks' story should help to convince many a foreigner that culture in America has progressed far beyond the picture of it they see in our movies.

TO RECEIVE DONATIONS for muscular dystrophy tonight, Birmingham Cleaners at Cranbrook and Maple Roads will remain open until 10:30 p.m. The unusual closing hour was authorized by owner Harold Kalbfleisch because of an eight-year-old boy who is stricken with the disease. The muscular dystrophy victim is the grandson of Mrs. Noble F. Spitzer, the firm's office manager. Mrs. Spitzer, who is a member of the muscular dystrophy association, believes education about the disease is extremely important. For seven years, she says, her grandson's ailment was not recognized and given what little treatment is now available to young sufferers. Tonight's porch drive volunteers may take their collections to the cleaning establishment. Anyone who is not going to be home and would like to contribute also can drop off his donation there.

A LITTLE GUY NAMED JOE wrote Santa Claus this week, not just asking for the airplane he wants for Christmas, but employing the method by which he probably sees his Birmingham parents get the things they want. This money-wise fellow, who neglected to include his full name and address, sent Santa a check for $80 for the airplane. St. Nick might never know the meaning of the scribbling on the check if Joe's mother hadn't explained it on the envelope.

OAKLAND COUNTY has a deficit of 800 points in its Red Cross blood bank at present, but it's not the fault of two Bloomfield Hills women who will be donating blood for the 17th time Monday. The two are Mrs. William Boyce Ricketts and Mrs. Bruce N. Coulter, both of Lone Pine road. They will be visiting the community blood bank to be set up from 1:45 to 7:45 p.m. that day at Christ Church Cranbrook. The rest of us can join them by making a call to the church office for a reservation.

WHEN BIRMINGHAM COMMISSIONERS got around to making their normal fall zoning appeal board appointments, it was discovered this year there would have to be four. Official minutes of commission meetings do not show the additional two were reappointed last year. So Monday night, the commission reappointed Clarence W. Blenman and John T. Spencer on schedule to serve until 1959, while the three-year terms of Roy LeMoine and George D. Miller are retroactive to Oct. 10, 1955, and expire the same date in 1958.

"IF AT FIRST YOU DON'T succeed, try and try again" could be the theme of eight years of deer hunting in northern Michigan for Jim Couzens, proprietor of McBride Hardware here. Together with Leo Renault, Harry Dahlquist, Jr., and Herb Brown, Jim went up a few miles west of Grayling to open the deer season, his eighth opening, and nary a buck to his name. However, the second day, Nov. 16, Jim was able to bring to a fatal end (including both ends and the middle) a 10-point, 140-pound buck. "Jim certainly proved to be an able nimrod," narrated one of the group later. "Not only was he successful in getting proper aim on this deer, after we had chased it 12 1/2 miles through plains and swamps to tire it out, but he also left his hunting knife in the animal's innards after skinning it out." When asked about the hunting episode, Jim merely smiles and grins and laughs and exclaims: "Well, after all, I was the only one in our group that got his buck . . . and that makes me a 1956 deer hunting success, doesn't it?"
