Tree-Lighting Ceremony Dec. 16, Community Event

Lathrup's Christmas tree lighting ceremony will take place Dec. 16 from 6 to 8 p.m. Plans for the program are being made by David B. Redwood, chairman, assisted by William B. Commons, in conjunction with the city recreation program.

There will be a presentation of colors by girl scouts and explorers with carols by the cubs and brownies and a general community sing.

Even Santa has planned a novel and spectacular visit. The community tree will stand in the same spot as last year, just north of Lathrup school.

An informal coffee hour has been planned at the home of Mrs. J. Owen, neighborhood girl scout.

Local Residents Hosts To Out-of-Town Guests

Out-of-town guests joined local residents at their holiday tables last week in Lone Pine Village. Mrs. Russell Frink's brother and sister-in-law, the George Filsons, were here from the Cleveland suburb, Rocky River. The Frink's son, George, was home, too, from Lansing where he is a student at Michigan State university.

At the W. E. Welsh home on Timberlake, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Ameling came in from Grand Rapids and stayed until Monday. Sharing the bronze bird with the C. Norman Frys of Jonathan lane were Mr. and Mrs. K. V. Kingscott and their daughter Nancy from Detroit.

Overnight guests from Aurora, Ohio were Mr. and Mrs. Edison Morse and daughter, Carol; who were also guests of Mr. Morse's mother, Mrs. Frederick H. Morse of Birmingham.

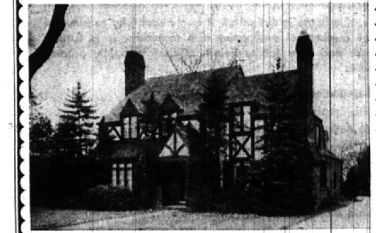

Newscaats on falling temperatures will not be bothering the August Hofmanns of Lahser road, at least for awhile. They are leaving soon for Tampa, Fla. for two months or longer. Their boys, Bernard and Del, are packing their suits and sun oil, too.

"M" man Willard Welsh of Timberlake road went to Columbus, Ohio, over the weekend, and for him the trip was rewarding. Michigan's Saturday victory over rival Ohio State got a rousing cheer from Welsh, who watched the play from the players' bench.

Daughter Mary Welsh, a freshman at William and Mary college and a new Kappa Alpha Beta pledge, had Thanksgiving dinner with her club sisters at their sorority house. Mary has joined the "Mermettes," the college's synchronized swimming group.

A hay-ride in the snow, (they hope) is the pleasant prospect facing members of the Senior Pilgrim Fellowship of Community church on Dec. 8. The outing will start at Roy's Ranch on Maple road at 1:30 p.m. and revelers will return to the church for refreshments and further recreation.

Chaperons will be Mr. and Mrs. William Vincent and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Boyd. Lynn Chapman, Jay Frazier and Jeanette are in charge of arrangements. Community church members will be the dinner guests.

White carnations and white stock the bridal theme at the spinster luncheon and personal show given to bride-elect Barbara Clark by Mrs. Charles Thompson and daughter Pat of San Quentin Friday at Kingsley Inn. Barbara's coverage was her favorite yellow tea roses. Her marriage to Andrew H. Atkins took place Saturday at 1:30 p.m. on Nov. 19, but everything worked smoothly and the surprise was complete.

An almost speechless Mrs. Stanley found Mrs. W. R. Downing, Mrs. F. J. Waldeck, Mrs. Jack Robinson, Mrs. William Hayes, Mrs. Fredrickson, Mrs. H. S. Kopeck waiting for her. Luncheon was served from a table decorated in yellow and green.

Christmas music by Southfield high school choir will be enjoyed by Lathrup Woman's Club members at their meeting Dec. 3 at the House-in-the-Woods.

The 50 girl members of the choir are under the direction of L. Vincent Kochenderfer, Southfield's vocal music director. Mrs. Charles Henke is in charge of the holiday tea following the meeting.

at the Hendrick house in Thompsoncrest is Brian Douglas, who made his bow Nov. 20 at St. Joseph Mercy hospital, Pontiac. The 7 lb. 13 ounce scene stealer gets star billing because he is the Hendrick's first born. In the supporting cast is father, St. Dunstan's prety, Fred Hendrick, Jr. and mother, the former Marjorie Smith of Birmingham.

Santa's pack will overflow at Yuletide when he calls on newcomers, the Robert Blundell in court, for the Blonide youngsters are seven in number. There's Kathryn, Joanne, Barbara Jean, Robert Clarence, Jr., Ronald Lee, Richard Allen and three-week old Mary Lynn, born at Detroit osteopathic hospital. Mary Lynn, whose birth weight was 7 lbs. 12 oz., was christened Sunday at Holy Name church.

There was a family gathering at the Blonide home to celebrate the event. The Blonides are from Ferndale, and Robert Blundell is with B. C. Willis in Oak Park.

Turkey takes the trimmings were fine for the holiday feast, but a few of the teenage set, getting a long weekend breather from school, thought they should have a little entertainment.

So Barbara Donnelly, of Carriage road, Karon McElipine, Gilbert Lake road and Janine Leslie, South Millers, hurried down to the Fox Theatre for a screening of "Love Me Tender," which stars that guitar-playing fellow.
