Franklin School Gets Government By Pupils

Government of the pupils, by the pupils (with considerable help from Principal Edwin Crandell), and for the pupils is the rule from now on at Franklin school.

Since the new governmental system's inauguration in the fall of 1955, students are taking a personal interest in their school.

Their elected representatives on the student council inaugurated a landscaping project, so young voters taking pride in the new evergreens and flowering shrubs. When playing on the school grounds, they carefully stay clear of the beautifying plants.

After all the pupils joined their student council in a general school ground clean-up early this month, they began trying to keep things looking neat when the big task was completed. Franklin is one of the first area elementary schools to adopt the student council system.

This year's council officers were formally installed at a recent school assembly. They were elected on the day of the nation's presidential elections, after a razzle-dazzle campaign marked by campaign banners, speeches to the student body, and demonstrations from the floor by candidates' supporters.

New officers are Kay Buchbinder, president; J. D. Bartleson, vice president; Connie Lee, secretary, and Jane Cook, treasurer.

Earlier this month every student did his share in the actual planting, with which some mothers assisted.

Cranbrook Corridor

By KEN CAMERON

Tomorrow evening another exchange dinner with Kingwood is planned. Juniors and seniors will eat at Kingwood, and freshmen and sophomores will have their meal at Cranbrook. Following the dinner, the curtain will go up on the Big 6 television club's play, "Through the Night," by Florence Ryerson and Colin Clement.

Male roles are being taken by Bob Schirmer, Phil Fleming, Charles Love, Bruce Withers, Pete Cooley, Lloyd Ashby and Lou Potter. Three Kingwood girls, Sherry Marker, Joyce Harlan and Joby Fredrickson, are taking the female roles.

Tickets will be sold at the door at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday nights.

Friday Jim Akers, Ralph Barber, Fred Brender, Jim Harrison, Karl Karlstrom, Doug Shaw, Ozie Jacobson, John Miller and Ed White are traveling to Cleveland. They will attend a conference for independent schools in the Lake Erie area.
