American Kennel Society Sponsors Training Course at Bloomfield High

Golden Prince Frederick, 9-month-old Weimaraner of the Darrell Millers of Lone Pine Village, and known less formally as "Fritz," is boning up in more ways than one. He attends classes at Bloomfield Hills high school.

The Monday evening sessions sponsored by the American Kennel Society of southern Michigan, are studies in discipline with charm school overtones; that is, "Fritz" learns to heel, stay and retrieve, along with rules for canine deportment.

His term started in September, and upon completion of his course, there will be a graduation day with a trophy award.

"Wouldn't it be embarrassing," muses his mistress, Mary Miller, "if he doesn't pass?"

And if you think the above is the zenith in dogdom, consider the Dick Raymann's "Chum" who celebrated a decade yesterday. Did the day go by with a mere pat on the head for the big Collie? Certainly not.

There was a birthday party complete with cake and candles, and for Chum, dogurgers (raw meat in patties), this 10-year-old's favorite dish.

Guests included not only Ricky Raymann's young friends, but be neighbor Mrs. John Gordon, who saves homes for her four footed pal and Mrs. Karl Kocher, Birmingham Humane Society head, who joined the group on Labster road for a doggone good time.

The Norman Rowes of Timberlake road planned what they thought would be a pleasant, although uneventful, Saturday night farewell dinner for the Lon Schneiders, Grasse Pointers leaving for Chesterston, Ind.

Other guests invited from the Pointe were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Newman and Mr. and Mrs. Vance Howe. The Rowes, recent visitors in New York of "My Fair Lady" thought, when they answered the door to admit their guests, that they were seeing a road company version of the big hit.

The guests, playing it "straight" filed past their hosts dressed in

They have five boys, John 6, who attends Our Lady Queen of Martyrs school, David 4, twins Tom and Tim 2½, and Mack, 9 months.

The group's next meeting and luncheon will be Wednesday, Nov. 14 at the home of Mrs. Vance Provenzano of Bellevue Trail. Co-hostesses will be Mrs. John O'Brien and Mrs. William King.

We Heard It Said By: ALBERT SCHUMM, Walnut Lake school principal: "American Education week begins Nov. 12, and visits from parents interested in watching the workings of their school will be welcomed at any time during the week."

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Hesselberg of Amherst had as their guests for the weekend Mr. Hesselberg's aunt and uncle, their son and his wife and two children from White-water, Wis.
