

St. James Chapel Cornerstone Laid By Rev. Towne

Sunday afternoon the cornerstone of the first unit of St. James' Episcopal chapel was laid in the building now nearing completion on 12 Mile road near Pierce, in Southfield. The stone was set in place by the Rev. Harold E. Towne, rector of St. James Episcopal church, assisted by the Rev. Herbert Barsale, vicar of the chapel and members of its congregation. The building is the first of a proposed group that will eventually comprise a church, parish hall, church school rooms and offices. The unit now under construction will have a temporary chapel, six classrooms and a kitchen.

THE CHAPEL was begun as a mission of St. James' church in Birmingham, in March of 1952. With the aid of the rector, Mr. Towne, and the lay reading staff under the direction of the Rev. Dr. A. Fletcher Plant of Birmingham, services have been held in the Oxford school in Berkeley. The mother church still provides partial financial support.

In June of 1953, the Rev. Herbert Barsale was appointed resident vicar, the first full time priest in the mission. In May of this

St. Anne's Guild Sponsors New B'ham Residents

Newly arrived in Birmingham, under the sponsorship of St. Anne's guild of St. James Episcopal church, are the Karl Keiperts and their children, Anton, 10, Anne, 5, and Karl, 2, from West Germany.

The Keiperts live in a six-room rented home at 484 Brown, located and furnished for them by the local church guild. Their entry into the United States was obtained by the guild through Church World Service.

Keipert, a cabinetmaker, started work this week with a construction firm, in a job secured for him by the guild women.

Among those whose efforts made the Keiperts' new home possible are Mrs. Ralph Hunt, Mrs. Charles Benfey, Mrs. Grant Watt, and Mrs. Charles Brook. All were on hand to meet the new family at Michigan Central station at 6 a.m. on a recent morning, while Mrs. Colin Stewart stayed at the Keiperts' house to prepare a welcoming breakfast.

year ground was broken. Architect is James P. Abbott, also of Birmingham. Mr. Barsale said services in the new church are expected to begin in about a month.

GETTING READY to put on a fashion show includes selecting outfits for models, a pleasant assignment to Mrs. John Paul (left) and Mrs. Sheldon Marston (right), who will model in the dress, fashion show and entertainment scheduled by St. Columban's Altar society. With them is Mrs. Edward Lynch, chairman of the event, to be held Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the Community House. Mrs. Esther Wiseley, R. B. Shop manager, is directing the fashion show.

Presbyterian Women's Ass'n Schedules Meet

"That Disturbing Force" is the subject the speaker, Mrs. J. Alton Chessman, has chosen for next Wednesday afternoon at the First Presbyterian church. Mrs. Chessman, the wife of a Port Huron minister, is synodical secretary for Social Education in Action.

The Women's Association of the First Presbyterian church, with Mrs. Irving Woolson as president, has planned an all-day meeting. There will be sewing in the morning and a business meeting and luncheon at noon, followed by the program at 1:30 p.m.

Mrs. Chessman will explain how to apply Christianity more successfully to everyday living. Mrs. Alfred Wallwork will give devotions and Alice Engram Vallons, contraalto, will be soloist.

Mrs. E. J. Barney, program chairman, is encouraging new people in the church to attend. The First Presbyterian church office is taking reservations.

The Agnes guild of the church will meet at 7:45 p.m. Tuesday, at the home of Mrs. Jack Wiedenmann, 3530 Kenmore, Berkeley. A representative of the Family Service of Oakland county will give the program.

With Layman's Sunday being observed this week at Embury Methodist church, two laymen,

Dad's Club Dance To Aid Athletics

The Dad's club of Holy Name church is sponsoring an all-parish cabaret-style dance next Thursday at 8:30 p.m. at Birmingham country club.

James Barbour is chairman of the event, proceeds from which will be used for the club's activities, including an athletic program for the school.

Others working on arrangements are Clyde Craine, Jr., Lee Sheehan, John Howington, Rudrick Otto, Hugh Humphrey, Edward Stenger, James Moore, Robert Rhein, Robert Cronin and Hanley Dawson, Jr.

Refreshments will be available.

To Begin Lectures

The Rev. Hugh Dunn, S. J., instructor of sociology at University of Detroit, will begin a series of four lectures on domestic problems next Thursday at 8 p.m. in the Holy Name school auditorium. The one-hour sessions are open to all adult parishioners.

Richard Ellis and William Ladd, will preach on "Truth Shall make You Free" at 10 and 11:15 a.m. services.

Other laymen will conduct the services in the absence of the Rev. Reginald Becker, who will be at a Lake Huron Methodist camp weekend retreat with members of the Senior Methodist Youth Fellowship. Mr. and Mrs. Garth Hawley will go along as counselors of the group, which is headed by Betsy Talbot.

How studio parties make students popular partners

There's more to being a popular partner than just knowing the right dance steps. You must have confidence and poise. Arthur Murray has discovered the best way to give his pupils confidence in themselves is to combine lessons with parties. In this way students get a chance to dance with many different partners, a chance, too, to practice what they've learned under regular party conditions.

You'd be surprised how even shy, timid people become gay conversers at these friendly parties. But why don't you come in and find out more about this unique party way of learning to dance? The studios are open from 10 AM to 10 PM daily.

Congregational Young People Slate Workday

Saturday the Pilgrim Fellowship of the Congregational church of Birmingham will sponsor an annual Workday for Christ. Distinctive as the Michigan group giving the largest gifts to Missions, the local Senior High group is determined to better its own record this year.

Last year $40,000 was given to missionary work by more than 400 Congregational young people's groups in the country.

Don Walsh, president of the Senior High Pilgrim Fellowship at the church, announces that this year they are ready to do the best job ever.

"WE WANT JOBS from anybody, in or out of the church," Don says. "We work all day, get paid whatever people think it's worth, and then give every penny we earn to our Christian World Mission."

"Those of us who have gone on spring trips at our church have seen home missions in East Harlem, and in the share-cropper country of Southern Missouri, one of our members working among the American Indians this summer in a Congregational camp in South Dakota. We know the needs, the hunger, the despair . . . and we mean to do something about it," he added.

The Pilgrim Fellowship group has divided its commissions into work teams. The Faith commission, under Mike Munzinger, is handling

Record Budget, Officers Voted At Our Shepherd

A record budget of $62,912 was adopted for 1957 and officers elected for the coming year at the voters assembly this week at Our Shepherd Lutheran church, E. 14 Mile road.

Eugene Lochner was re-elected president of the church council with Willis Billmeyer, vice president; Robert Pfeuffer, secretary; Joe Bassett, treasurer; and Don Schroeder, financial secretary. Other board officers include Billmeyer, board of elders president; Lorne Dickinson, board of trustees chairman; Wally Metcalf, chairman, board of Christian education; Adolph Zehnder, Sunday school superintendent; and Harold Meyer, chairman, Christian day school board.

Besides general salary increases the budget for the coming year includes an appropriation to construct nursery and storage facilities at the church, and a first year payment to construct a new parsonage on the church property. The young church now number a membership of 542.

Those interested in hiring young people from the church for odd jobs around the house and yard may call the church office before 5 p.m. Friday.

BACK AGAIN

And after seeing what our imported writer—one "Omaga"—has done in this column last week we are reluctant to take the quill in hand to try to surpass him. Either we will surpass him or "Omaga" will be doing them with certain regularity.

"Omaga" has used most of our fodder in one issue so we will do what we can with the dregs.

We have some new tulip pictures which if you can picture the picture the blossoms may present when perceived from your picture window, will present no problem to us in disposing of them (at a price, of course).

- Papago (Breeder), Poppy red with yellow base . . . 26"
- Orange Delight (Breeder), Clear bronze, flushed orange . . . 26"
- Paris (Triumph), Orange-red, edged yellow . . . 18"
- Golden Duchess (Lily-flowered), Golden yellow . . . 26"
- Brilliant Star (Single early), Scarlet . . . 10"
- Dasystemon (Tulipa Tarda), Canary yellow and white . . . 6"
- Concerto (Kanfanianna), Pale cream, black base . . . 8"
- Gold Beator (Fosteriana), yellow (or rather, gold) . . . 18"
- Nutella (Fosteriana), Rose with white edge (the information from another source says "Creamy Yellow"). Since they are $4.30 a dozen we will allow one dollar a dozen if you care to experiment . . . 18"
- Fosteriana Mixed . . . 8 colors . . . you can't miss . . . 18"
- Cantate (Tulipa Speciosa), Vermilion-red with shiny green leaves . . . 10"
- (Did we ever mention the importance, at times, of the foliage over the flower? No? Well!)
- Snow Prince (Double late), Pure white . . . 18"

- Continue to plant PEONIES, the REGAL LILY can be used effectively between peonies and other large growing perennials.
- Be sure to spot the points where spring bulbs and perennials are being planted or you will grow a pot-pourri.
- Give a thorough watering to newly set perennials, evergreens, and rhododendrons, but for Petes' sake DON'T water the newly planted bulbs.
- Gladiolus corms should be allowed to cure in shallow flats for 2 or 3 weeks, dusted with NEUDUST and stored in the cold (but above freezing).
- Still time to divide peonies.
- AMARYLLIS bulbs (dormant, started, in bloom) are available. These are the giants and the price is well below their size and beauty.
- Native LILIES can be planted now! SPECIOSUM RUBRUM REGAL CENTIFOLIUM
- Use BONE MEAL only with bulbs.
- Isomene (Peruvian daffodil) often fail to bloom the second year because the bulbs have been wintered in too cold a place, 60 to 70 degrees is right.
- Dig as many parsnips and oyster plants as may be required for early use. One of each would be TOO many.
- Store squashes and pumpkins on racks suspended in a room where the temperature is about 50 degrees if pop is both an Eskimo and a carpenter.
- If he is a REAL ESKIMO or has been through Operation BIRDSEYE he can store beets, carrots and—ugh—turnips in sand at 33 to 40 degrees. If you like them that much why the heck don't you eat 'em.
- Sweep the leaves off the lawn or start a new lawn next year. (Sweepers are available for this purpose.)
- In odd moments (we feel that you must be very unusual if you have any odd moments) cut back the loose ends of vines growing on walls so the winter ravages will not pull them loose.
- Keep mowing the lawn until GROWTH STOPS.
- Keep watering trees and shrubs and especially evergreens. The supply of moisture in the soil will be necessary for winter use.
- It was much easier in the Carolinas.
