

BARNUM JUNIOR HIGH NEWS

At a recent Barnum assembly, President Jeanne Phillips, Jim Rully, vice-president, Jill Sage, secretary, Janet Nicholson, treasurer, and Robert Heffner, safety commissioner, were installed as Student Council officers. Jeanne Phillips gave the oath to the council representatives.

Miss Daniel's third hour home economics class recently held the Topsy Turvy Stock-Hop for the ninth grade.

The eighth grade chorus and selected music students will present two radio broadcasts in the near future. Their 30-minute program will be recorded for FM and shortened to 15 minutes for a live program over WCAE.

At the presidents' club first meeting officers elected were Jane McKinley, President; Karen Petray, vice-president; Ann Nichols, secretary, and Otto Laula, sergeant-at-arms.

The United Foundation torch drive inspired several unusual homeroom fund-raising activities. Carnivals, bake sales, slave auctions, dances, guessing contests and a haunted house helped the students to meet their quota. Final tabulation of the school drive will be announced next week.

Members of Girl Scout troops 257 and 331 have disbanded and donated their troop funds to Barnum's torch drive.

Students of homerooms 240 and 217 sponsored "The Pigskin Ball" last Thursday, with proceeds contributed to the Torch Drive. Added features of the dance were a cake auction and sale of refreshments during intermission.

Student host and hostesses have been selected for the cafeteria again this year. Among students participating in this semester are Peter Hutton, Fred Muenchinger, John McCracken, Chuck Angell, Jim McCracken, Ted Elliot, David Jones, Ruth Ann Payton, Jane Grund, Bob Simpson, Deane Niles, Sue Perkins, Karl Siplander and Fred Ball.

BHS Students View Civil Defense

The Birmingham high school civil defense council met recently, under direction of Arthur Delvaro, adviser.

A committee was appointed to reorganize air raid drills. Similar drills were suggested for tornadoes which may occur this spring.

Mr. Delvaro also urged recruiting teenagers to work Saturdays for the ground observer corps.

High Bidders Get Spaghetti, Puppy, UF Gets Money

"What am I bid, what am I bid?" The Schaefer and John Bode, auctioneers, launched the second annual Torch drive auction assembly last Friday at Birmingham high school.

Action got off to a good start when a spaghetti dinner for eight prepared by Angelo Angeli, speech instructor, sold for $21 to Beverly Close and Carol Chappell. By far the most exciting item on the list was a black and white, ribboned, mixed cocker puppy, quite upset by the noise and confusion. After brisk bidding, the puppy sold for $97.

The puppy will be mascot of Arthur Korp's homeroom, and later will be given to the family of George Miller, class adviser who has been in the hospital a year.

For the second consecutive year, Mary Burkman was the purchaser of Mrs. Hazel Ladd's delicious pralines, paying $12 for them.

Other items bought were two reserved seats on the bench for the Royal Oak game, Brenda Whiting; seat next to Coach John Petrakis at a basketball game, Annette La Messurier; free candy bar every day until school is out, Tom Brown; reserved table for eight in the cafeteria, homeroom C104; a ride to school for a week with John Kish, Frank McGinnis.

The total amount earned by the auction for the Torch drive was $603.11.

148 BHS Seniors Take Scholarship Qualifying Tests

Yesterday throughout the United States Scholarship qualifying tests were given to high school seniors.

At Birmingham high school the tests were given in the library.

Administered by Educational Testing Service, the SAT fills the need for a single test which meets the requirements of many scholarship programs.

The test is in two one-hour parts, language and mathematics. Signing up for the test were 148 seniors. Of these the top five per cent, or 21 students, were able to take the test free. Others paid one dollar each.

In the top five per cent were Clarke Andreal, Martha Cox, Carol Drinkard, Lynne Easter, Fred Pinkenauer, Sally Hanson, Martha Hill, Bryant Hilliard, Sue Hindle, Ken Hogan, Lynne Hubert, and Nancy Johnson.

Others were David Kame, Jim Maurer, Janet McDonald, Mickey Michaels, Jan Miller, Janet Rigby, Ann Spoelstra, David Stiles, Judy Walker, and Sue Burkhardt.

BHS Future Nurses Sending Clothes To Korea Orphans

The Future nurses' club at Birmingham high school is having a clothing drive among members, sending all clothes to Korean war orphans.

Officers of the club are Judy Gray, president; Elizabeth Thomson, vice president; Gay Birchard, treasurer; Sue Leader, secretary; Diane Richardson, program chairman; and Janet Mitchell, charity. Adviser is Mrs. Dee Salton.

The club takes field trips to various schools of nursing. Planned to far are trips to Henry Ford hospital, Nov. 15; Providence, Nov. 28, and Harper, Dec. 7.

Recently the club took in 26 new members. Many of the juniors and seniors assist in the clinic.

By using proceeds from the cafeteria, they also support a Korean war orphan.
