BHS Scribblers Map Future Plans

Everything from Tolstoy to Pogo was discussed at the first meeting of the Scribblers' club, last week in the little apartment at Birmingham high.

Students talked over books they had read during the summer.

Plans for the future include a trip to Detroit to see Julie Harris in "The Lark." The club will also visit a writing class.

The club officers are Sally Hanson, president; Jan Miller, vice president; Nancy Maxwell, secretary; Sue Ketchum, treasurer; Jan Lynch, member-at-large. Advisors are Freda Richards and Mary Lou Bernacker.

BHS 'Alma Mater' Band Arrangement Introduced at Game

First complete band arrangement of the BHS alma mater "Forever Birmingham" was presented to students and teachers last Friday during the pep meeting before the Mt. Clemens game.

Jerry Neff, 1947 Birmingham graduate who composed the music for the alma mater, made the arrangement at the University of Michigan this past summer and sent it to the high school recently. It will be played and sung at all football and basketball games.

For the past week excitement has mounted as Derby Junior high school prepares for its first student election. Voting for school officers took place on Wednesday.

Nominations: President, Mike Karna Smith; Judy Karna, Brock Brydgn, Bob Kinney; secretary, Judy Karna; Sarah Gerlick, and John Parfina; treasurer, Brian Givons, John Taylor, Patty Mason.

First step in running for office is to have a petition of at least 100 names. After that you choose a couple of people to be in charge of posters.

Mr. Carl Pacacha is sponsoring this election.

The Projection club, sponsored by Mrs. Elaine Warren is the first after-school activity to be formed. This is the group which runs the audio-visual equipment.

Ninth and eighth grade football under the direction of Mr. Ray Yarrus and Mr. Bud Keller is also under way. This sport and all others will be played on an intramural basis. Basketball will also be played when the gymnasium has been completed.

Speaking of the gym, Mr. Daniel Neabitt, principal of Derby, says he is hopeful for a new completion. Mr. Neabitt reports that there will be sliding doors to section it into two halves so that one class can meet at once. The gym will also be used for programs, assemblies, and meetings, with provisions made for a stage.

BARNUM JUNIOR HIGH NEWS

It's time for the Barnum Torch Drive again. Mrs. Geraldine Hansen is chairman this year. To raise money, the home-rooms are going to have fairs, bake sales, and auctions. The drive will be staged from the 15th through the 19th of October.

The Presidents' Club plans to meet every other Wednesday, third hour in Room 100. At the first meeting, it will elect a president, vice-president and secretary.

The Critics Club will soon set its first meeting. Those interested in joining the club may come. This club is made up of students interested in books.

At the meeting, officers will be elected and program and future plans discussed.

The homemaker club met for the first time this year Thursday. Present were sixteen members.

Nominations were placed and elections will be next meeting. Pat Barry and Michele Brandt acted as co-hostesses.

The Projector's Club had its first meeting Sept. 27. Elected officers are president, Jim Landino; vice-president, Sam White; secretary, Bill Cyril; and treasurer, David Bee. This week's lunch hour movie is "Soldier of Fortune."

Intramural sports are now in full swing since 7th and 8th grade football started scrimmaging last Tuesday. After a few tough scrimmages, the teams hope to start regular games next week.

Fall is the time when leaves fall silently to the ground, but not in the Barnum's seventh grade girls' gym classes. Mrs. Jane Foster leads the classes in eight fast, exciting games of soccer each day. There are four classes and two teams in each class. Each fall, the team plays about eight league games depending on the weather. The winner of each class plays the winner of the next class. Finally the last remaining team is the league champion.

The Barnum press club has added 15 new members: Cheryl Brodsky, Jackie Brown, Patsy Gordon, Jean Hancock, Ray Heikkinen, Tia Carpenter, Beth Clark, Judy Cook, Mollie Mosher, Margie Russell, Sue Russell, Betty Salotti, Betty Garrison, Karen Maney, Betty Jean Shea.

Iowa Tests Rate Student's Progress

Last week 1500 Birmingham high students took the Iowa tests of educational development.

Designed to measure the student's progress, the Iowa tests have been used at Birmingham four years.

Scores on the tests, which are prepared by Iowa state university, give a better picture of what a student knows or is able to learn than his grades in individual courses or his IQ.

Derby Junior HS Announces Staff For School Paper

The staff of the new Derby junior high school's newspaper was chosen this week, with Dan Rogers selected as editor-in-chief.

Assistant editors are Barbara Monroe and Sam Jones.

Reporters are Pat Bostwick, Carol King, Penny Blunt, Les Carter, Pat Eskins, Dave Lindsay, Marian Ginnman, Brooks Ginnman, John Hamilton, Brian Givons, John Taylor, and June Diemann.
