

News of Local Young People Away at School

News of local young people attending schools away from home continues to come in.

Barbara L. Knowlton, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Boyd Knowlton of Chula Vista Lane, is majoring in Christian education at Wheaton college, Illinois, where she is a junior.

James H. McKnight has returned to Kalamazoo college for her sophomore year. Her parents are the E. L. McKnights of Puritan avenue.

SHATTUCK school, Fairbault, Minn., has claimed Russell Richardson, Jr., son of the R. M. Richardson of Chesterfield road, and David Wentworth, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Wentworth of Covington road. Russell has been assigned to Co. B in the ROTC unit and David is in the band company. Both are members of the Gophers intramural club.

FIVE AREA boys, all freshmen at Denison university, Granville, Ohio, have been pledged to national fraternities, pledging Phi Delta Theta are Edgar A. Guest III, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar A. Guest, Jr., of Bingham Lane, and John Hart, son of the S. Truman Harts of Gulfport road, Bloomfield Hills.

Allen Sanborn, son of the Norman F. Sanborns of Pilgrim St., is a Phi Gamma Delta pledge, and John Stebbins, son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Stebbins of Cranbrook road, is joining Kappa Sigma. Sigma Chi will be the fraternity of Robert Swats III, whose parents are the junior R. Swats of Concord road, Bloomfield Hills.

SUSAN T. Aldrich and Ann F. Wright have started their first year at Penn Hall junior college, Chambersburg, Pa. They are daughters, respectively, of Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. W. Aldrich of Baldwin court and the Joseph F. Wrights of Pilgrim street.

FRESHMEN at Brown university, Providence, R. I., include George U. Limp, Jr., and Michael G. Weston. Limp, a son of the senior G. U. Limp of Cranbrook road, is a Cranbrook graduate. A graduate of Birmingham school, Weston is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman B. Weston of Kennesaw avenue.

CLASSES began last week at Grinnell college, Iowa, for David J. Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Allen, Jr., of Dunblaine avenue. Allen, a sophomore, is a transfer student from the Western Michigan college, Kalamazoo.

Don't Build a Mouse Apartment

By ALICE WESSELS BURLINGAME
Special Writer for the Birmingham Eccentric

There are many garden tasks to keep in mind in the Fall. Remember not to mound up or mulch your choice shrubs or roses for winter protection until Nov. 15th or you will find that you have designed a deluxe mouse apartment. And how they do love the tender shoots! By this mentioned date they will have "rented" their space for the winter season.

Do not prune your flowering shrubs at this time, as this practice should take place after the flowering period.

If your official clipper "has the itch," have him trim up your trees. It is always advisable to have on your garden shelf a special tree wound paint to use after any sizeable cutting.

WHILE YOUR GARDEN results are fresh in your mind, it is a good time to remove those plants which are not worthy of their space by their performance.

Perhaps those same unhappy plants will do better in a better location.

I am always reminded of the

Pierce PTA Books Sage Brush Shorty For Oct. 19 Fair

The Pierce school Fair October 19 will feature Sage Brush Shorty of television fame, along with his little friends, Bronco Billy Button and Skinny Dugan. They'll appear in three performances, at 5, 6 and 7 p.m.

Besides getting things prepared for the big fair, Pierce PTA members have been busily engaged with several room Mothers' teas for teachers and mothers of students at the school.

Mrs. Ray Diamond and Mrs. Herbert Brueschke served as hostesses to mothers of Miss Margaret Cameron's fifth grade pupils.

Twenty-eight mothers attended a tea in Mrs. Helen Calderwood's fourth grade classroom as guests of Mrs. Day Saylor and Mrs. Ronald McCulloch.

Mrs. Albert Landino's home was the scene of another tea, with Mrs. John Gebb as co-hostess. Joan Wetzel gave an account of a typical day in school, then held a question and answer period for mothers of her third grade students.

Mrs. Elizabeth Bruner discussed her reading program with mothers of children in her first grade class. Hostesses were Mrs. P. Allen and Mrs. V. A. Foursacre.

a fine border of pachysandra, backed by a judicious planting of yews. Nicely done.

If you have the problem of pruning evergreens to achieve the optimum effect, study the fine example of pruning at 873 Cranbrook. The simplicity of the evergreen growth enhances the colonial architecture.

At the corner of Hamilton and Broadway where the owner has a large frontage, they have used extremely good taste in the evergreen placement around their circular driveway. This is a 1966 planting.

At 3234 BRADWAY the peninsula-shaped flower bed is handsome at the right of the house. It balances the other side of the house. It is beautifully planted with ornamental trees for that vertical accent which is important for most flower beds. The careful use of annuals was appreciated by the driver.

I still maintain that flowers in the front denote a warmth within. Occasionally I noticed high mounding of soil around the base of trees. This is not good, as rain runs away from the base, it is not pleasing to the eye, and makes the trees look very unnatural.

They have an 18" dry wall with a resulting elevated foundation planting bed which brings down the height of their structure. At the top of the dry wall they have many incidents where people try to grow lilacs in other than full sun and how brave the plants are to stretch indefinitely upward with only a few flowers instead of being a well-balanced shrub.

The Harold B. Joys of 1371 Cranbrook, have a handsome front boundary planting of pines. A well-placed spruce frames the house and balances the garage on the other side. All of the evergreens and shrubs in front of their home are in good taste. Red geraniums set off their well-groomed lawn.

LET'S TOUR THE town some more. At 638 Westwood I stopped to admire the balanced planting for this two-story colonial home.

MRS. ROALD MUIR SCHOPP Honeymooners Travel To The Laurentians

A gown of ivory Italian silk with princess lines was worn by Beverly Ann Watkins for her marriage to Roald Muir Schopp Saturday. One hundred and five wedding guests witnessed the single ring ceremony in the First Presbyterian church with the Rev. W. Glen Harris officiating.

Parents of Beverly are Mr. and Mrs. Vincent B. Watkins of Henry drive, Birmingham. Roald is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur H. Schopp of Sheffield, Mass.

EMBOSSD velvet lace accented the bodice of her bridal gown with three-quarter length sleeves. Graceful folds of the full skirt fell into a chapel sweep. Her veil of silk illusion was secured by a tiny Juliet cap of matching velvet lace and she carried a cascade of stephanotis and gardenias.

Iridescent gray-green taffeta was worn by Barbara Watkins, her sister's maid of honor. A portrait neckline and three-quarter length sleeves fashioned the frock and her headband was a flat bow of the same material. She carried butterscotch colored fujii mums centered with roses.

Bridemaids wore identical gowns and carried yellow fujii mums. They were Barbara Barker and Virginia Berensford, both of Bloomfield Hills. Jeanne Hauselmann of Denver, Colo., Mrs. Lawrence D. Heitsch of Mt. Morris, Mich., and Margo Proper of Newburgh, N. Y.
