Eastover School Grounds Cleared in Clean-Up Campaign

A fall clean-up campaign was in full swing Saturday morning at the new Eastover elementary school on Westview road, Bloomfield Hills.

William McGuire, principal, called for volunteers and found many willing and eager parents wanting to do their part in cleaning up the woods and grounds around the school.

Everyone turning out brought work tools with them. When the job was finished a pot-luck lunch was served in the school's multipurpose room.

From now on, the girls in Eastover Farms are going to do their own cleaning and apply lipstick first thing in the morning, just so they will look presentable if they are ever kidnapped again.

Mrs. Rod Ackerman, Mrs. John Hamilton and Mrs. Milton Rogers, Houseguests for a week at the home of the Wilfred Bobbers of Eastover road was his mother, Mrs. Wilfred Bobber, Sr. of Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Friday evening the Pine Hill bowling group met after bowling at the home of the Gas Dairings of Rouge Circle. Assisting with the evening's refreshments was Mrs. William Barclay. The 12 couples bowl each Friday evening throughout the season.

Home again after a 10-day trip through Tennessee are the Mauree and Mrs. Pine Hill drive. Their tour took them through the Smokies to Gatlinburg and then on to Nashville.

In Nashville they spent a few days visiting the Robert Hoffman family who previously lived in Pine Hill. The Hoffmans were transferred to the new glass plant of Ford Motor in Nashville, last June.

A toy party was held Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Marc Hagerman of Bittern Hill. Much enthusiasm over the toys was displayed. The 30 guests attending were Pine Hill residents.

It was a weekend of fishing Sept. 29, for Marc Hagerman of Bittern Hill and a friend from Wayland. Their destination was Thornberry, Ontario, where they stayed at the Blue Mountain lodge.

The Peter Robinsons of Lanegan drive announce the birth of a son, Mathew Burwell, born Sept. 14 at Harper hospital, weighing 7 lbs., 4 oz. Waiting at home to greet mother and baby were Barry, 7, Cindy, 6, Timmy, 4, Chris, 2.

The Osage branch of the WNFCA held its Oct. 1 meeting at the home of Mrs. Thomas La Rue of Kentmoor road. Mrs. Frank Webb, state chairman of flower shows, spoke on bulbs and dried arrangements.

The program was followed by tea at the home of Mrs. Carl Christensen of Kentmoor. On the hostess committee were Mrs. L. J. Keeler, Mrs. William Armstrong and Mrs. Donald Richardson. Mrs. Charles Crane and Mrs. John Kohn poured.

Mrs. Fred Cornett of Hickory Heights drive, pack mother for pack B-34, cub scouts, entertained the new den mothers at a coffee in her home the morning of Sept. 20.

Helping to start off the season were Mrs. James Cummins, last year's pack mother. Attending were Mrs. Steven Lyman, Mrs. John Wright, Mrs. Hal Guilhem, Mrs. William Jackson, Mrs. Richard Pi-

St. Dunstan Presents 'Gigi', Setting is Gay Paree, 1900

Mary K. Hain in the part of "Gigi," the beautiful French girl, is captivating the members of St. Dunstan's who are busily working at the Pavilion during rehearsal to create two most unusual stage sets for this delightful comedy which is scheduled to open October 12.

One of the unique features of the set is to be the two new "slamable" doors, recently purchased by St. Dunstan's Guild, which will be initiated at the production of "Gigi," October 12, 13, 19 and 20.

Anita Loos adapted Colette's novel for the stage. The action takes place in Paris at the turn of the century, and the two sets represent the living room of Mme. Alvarez, Gigi's grandmother, and the boudoir of her aunt Alicia de St. Ephraim.

Mrs. John Warner is directing the play and Mrs. Lewis C. Keenan is in charge of production. In addition to Mary K. Hain who is playing "Gigi," the others in the cast are Mrs. Rogers I. Marquis, Mrs. William Yasu, Victor Armstrong, Maurice F. Smith, Mrs. Albert F. Remington and Mrs. C. Anthony Randall.

Already many dinner and theater parties are being planned in anticipation of the opening of St. Dunstan's season. On both weekends the play is open to the public. Tickets are available in advance at Grinnell's in Birmingham, or by calling Mrs. Mair Lyle.

Mrs. James Everett, substituting for Mrs. Robert Kloor who are Mr. and Mrs. Clarence H. Bonnett of Philadelphia who are enroute to Florida.
