MRS. RICHARD L. MORAN

MRS. WILLIAM E. HOGAN, JR.

Holy Name Church Scene of Wedding

Holy Name church in Birmingham was the scene of the noon ceremony Saturday uniting in marriage Margaret Ann Reed and Richard Lawrence Moran. Two hundred guests witnessed the double-ring rites performed by Rev. Edmund Schwager.

Parents of the bride are the Paul and Tod Reeds of Wimbeldon drive, Birmingham. The groom is the son of Mrs. Frederick L. Moran of Grosse Pointe and the late Mr. Moran.

MARGARET'S wedding gown was fashioned of white peau de seie designed with scooped neckline accented by velvet and seed pearl applique, elbow length sleeves and beaded skirt terminating in a chapel train. Her illusion veil cascaded from a cap of velvet applique and seed pearls, and she carried a bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley.

Sarah Frances Reed was her sister's honor maid and another sister, Elizabeth Mason Reed, and Janet Francis Gallaude of Bloomfield Hills were bridesmaids. Their peacock blue street length frocks were styled on empire lines with flared skirts and featuring a satin inset on the bodice, ending in a back bow and streamers to the hemlines.

THE MAIDS carried pink geraniums and the same flowers were combined with sweetheart roses for the honor attendant's bouquet. Complimenting their costumes were headbands of ivory.

Robert Edmund Moran of Grosse Pointe was his brother's best man and William F. Walton, Jr. and Charles R. Solt of Detroit ushered guests.

Guests were greeted at a buffet luncheon reception at Orchard Lake country club after which the newlyweds left for a honeymoon at Sun Valley, Idaho. For traveling, the bride selected a grey costume dress with black accessories and a red hat.

Mr. and Mrs. Moran will make their home on Rivard Blvd., Grosse Pointe.

Judith A. Stodart Is Saturday Bride

Judith A. Stodart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Justin Stodart of San Quentin drive, Lathrup Village, exchanged wedding vows Saturday morning, at St. Bede's church, with William Edward Hogan, Jr., son of the senior W. E. Hogans of Royal Oak.

The bride's gown was fashioned of white-Italian silk peau de seie applied with alseon lace and touched with seed pearls. For the afternoon reception at Devon Gables, the gown's cathedral train was caught up into a bouffant bustle.

A CIRCULET of orange blossoms secured the finger tip length bridal veil of silk illusion. A white orchid centered her bouquet of tiny white roses and lilies-of-the-valley.

Judith's attendants were gowned in turquoise de-lustred satin designed with portrait necklines and floating back panels in a deeper shade. Their pillbox hats were handied in velvet leaves and they carried crescent arrangements of turquoise carnations and stock.

Mrs. Norman F. Berg, Jr., was matron of honor and Gloria Van-
