FIRST PLACE winners in Singer's sewing contest and contestants for the region... Marsha Hoffman (left) and Sandra Mavis.

First Place Winners In Sewing Contest

The day has long passed when clothes you make yourself are considered "homemade". Today's smartest dressed women have their own dressmaker and clothes are styled to fit.

Youngsters start at an early age and pride themselves on their accomplishments. Two Birmingham area girls last week became first place winners in a local sewing contest and their frocks have been placed in the regional contest.

MARSHA Hoffman, 11-year-old daughter of the Frank Hoffman's, 31970 Bingham road, Bingham Farms, walked off with the prize for the junior division.

Her turquoise cotton dress was fashioned with a long torso, white collar and rounded scoop neckline. Spaghetti trim and white grosgrain ribbon sash accented the frock.

Mrs. Hoffman remarked that Marsha had been making doll clothes since a tiny tot, however, this was first big project.

She is a fifth grader at Detroit Country Day School.

SENIOR winner was Sandra Mavis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard C. Mavis, 1875 Fairview. Three quarter length sleeves.
