Retailing Students Entertain Bosses

The Birmingham high school business club gave its annual "bosses' dinner" Tuesday in the Maple room.

Students working on the cooperative program entertained their bosses at the dinner.

Mrs. Joan C. Marks, retailing instructor, introduced the speaker, I. Himmelhoch from Detroit, who spoke on "50 Golden Years in Retailing."

The dinner is only one of the many events planned by the club during the year. Financed by money raised through numerous bake sales and dues.

Photographs of the earth's bulges will be possible with specially designed telescope cameras used in conjunction with man-made satellites.

BHS Aquabelles Plan A 'Shopping Spree'

In a watery department store, represented by the Derby junior high school swimming pool, Birmingham high school's smooth-swimming Aquabelles will go on a "Shopping Spree" tonight, Friday and Saturday night. Tonight's performance is at 7:30 p.m., with subsequent shows slated for 8 p.m.

The water ballet will utilize the big windows along the new pool's far wall as the store front. In the pool before it, 80 girls will swim and dance through 19 scenes as juniors, luncheon waitresses, clerks and models. The swimmers have been preparing for the show since late November.

THE SHOW IS under direction of Miss Sally Reid and Miss Judy Stevenson, girls' physical education instructors.

Barb Abbott and Sally Hanson will be soloists.

Working on committees for the event are Carole Trzos, publicity; Sue Smith, scenery; Judy Austin and Nancy Stewart, tickets; Gail Patrick, programs, and Barb Brian, make-up.

Handling lights are Pat Cornell, George Close, Tom Baldwin, Ford Kamin, Paul VanEvery and Martha Koskinen.

Other committees are Toni Burch and Robin Tillotson, sound; Mrs. James Abbott, costumes; Judy Righter, Ann McLellan, Betsy Carroll, script; Nancy Maxwell, properties, and Nicky Parsons, Betty Nichols and Kathy Farrell, characters.

EML Conference Draws Delegation From Birmingham

A delegation of 21 Birmingham high school students headed by Pete Brink, attended the Eastern Michigan league conference in Mt. Clemens yesterday.

Birmingham won the league trophy for the best student project the past three years. Outlined in a letter by Sally Hanson, this year's project was the annual Civic Control day. Winner was not known at press time.

The theme of the conference was "know the truth and the truth will make you free." Guest speaker was Paul Harris of Boston University. Birmingham chose Mike Patterson, discussion leader of the topic Community Recreation for teenagers.

Visit Luray Cavern

Several students from Cranbrook school accompanied by Mr. P. B. DeWitt said a visit to Luray Caverns, Virginia recently.

Luray caverns are the result of the action of water over 10,000,000 years, scientists state.

The students also visited Williamsburg, Yorktown, Jamestown, Fredericksburg and the Skyline Drive.
