

Becomes Member
Of National Honor Society

FRANKLIN — Sue Polhemus, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Von D. Polhemus of Captains Lane, was accepted by the national honor society at a special ceremony held at Birmingham high school last Friday. She is a member of the senior class.

Admission is based on qualities of service, character, scholarship and leadership and a high scholastic average must be maintained. Martha Hill and Frank Wilson, who were admitted to the honor society last year as juniors, acted as pages during the special assembly.

Franklin Hears Facts on Roads

Half a dozen residents from Franklin Village attended the Franklin council meeting Monday evening to voice complaints about road conditions within the village. A man from the highway department who was going to explain surfacing and dust control problems in other localities could not attend the meeting. He is expected to be at the council meeting Saturday.

The resident, irritated over a bad stretch of road near her home which stranded five motorists with one day asked why the village couldn't barricade such sections.
