Homemade Ceramic Table Worth $1,000

By VIRGINIA COLE

"The main feature that I like about it is how indestructible it is". This is the comment of Mrs. Maynard Outwater, of Vachon court who is now the proud owner of an all-ceramic tile coffee table which she made herself.

The mother of four small children, Mrs. Outwater is inclined to appreciate the practical value of her table as much or more than its beauty. She designed this lovely two-free-form coffee table to stand before her curved, black sectional couch.

Attending the ceramics class of Mrs. Jan Wilson, Franklin road, Mrs. Outwater began her table last June and completed it in February.

Mosaic Table Uses Chinese Dragon Motif

In the process of completing a mosaic coffee table with a Chinese dragon design, Mrs. John Long, 2901 Bermuda lane, Southfield township, has used mosaic and ceramic tile, copper strips, enamel pieces, beads and colored stones while working on the large centerpiece.

The dragon is turquoise green with royal blue talons, accented with copper strips and small beads, on a mauve pink background. When the work is finished, slim brilliant ruby red stones will be inserted for claws and a large stone will be placed in the eye of the dragon.

Mrs. Long, who has one son, Clayton, 4 1/2, has been working with ceramics and mosaics for a year and finds it a fascinating hobby. She has completed four tables and is holding one of a pair of comedy and tragedy wall hangings which she fashioned out of transparent glass tile so the pictures could be illuminated from behind.
