Barnum Bylines BY THE PRESS CLUB

All the secondary teachers from Barnum, Derby, and Birmingham high schools went to the General Motors Technical Center Monday night. They discussed their common aims in education. They agreed to gain more understanding between school and industry.

After a movie they heard a talk by Charles A. Chayne, vice president in charge of engineering. After that, they had dinner. Betsy Garrison.

A student who protested at Barnum was snared. Don protested that present study hall methods are obsolete. After a short discussion, Don was placed in charge of study hall for three days, to try his radically new methods. After much running from desk to desk and shouting and turning crimson red, Don conceded that maybe a teacher's lot was not an easy one. His success as a study hall teacher could be measured by the boisterous laughter that penetrated the study hall walls. Betsy Garrison.

Barnum students received their copies of the Easter edition of the Ink Splash. It had a special feature of disc jockeys.

Emergency air raid drills were scheduled by a special safety commission from the Student Council.

Barnum is successfully operating a Student Court. The jury is selected from the Student Council and the President's club. The judge is Jim Hubly, vice president of the Student Council.

In May, there will be election for the Student Council.

This year Miss Jane Ward, the Barnum librarian, has introduced several new units, designed to help students learn more about their reading and the library. Some of these units are the poetry unit, the short story unit, the unit, "Ingredients of Success"; the classics unit, the mythology unit, and the unit about the history of language.

Ninth grade students recently making the honor roll are: James Aho, Robert Adams, Ann Bailey, Beverly Barick, Anne Barton, Paula Benesko, Justina Brown, William Bryant, Jean Buchanan, Tom Burton, James Custer, Diane Downey, Donald Frey, Steve Harrison, Karl Gibson, Candis Gilbert, Judy Gibson, Robert Hartner, Lorne Hollowell, James Hasty, Anne

Next Thursday in the gym, BHHS junior high will host a number of other schools for the annual Michigan State Vocal association district No. 1 Festival. It will be run similarly to the festival for the upper grades held a few weeks ago at Royal Oak. Each chorus participating will receive a rating such as I, II, III and so on.

The following girls have been chosen for next year's cheerleading squads: for varsity are Gretchen Raeder, Sue Boyd, Carol South, Fat Van Vurst, Gay Firth and Barbara Van Dyk. Jayvoss will be Lenore Johnson, treasurer, Mary Longdyke, Gallo, Jane Darham, Rmie Ross, Marcia Mezey, Gay Maxwell and Sue Fry.

Kappa chapter of Phi Sigma Tau has been working on the charity angle of the charter by providing food for Easter for a needy family in Pontiac. Each girl brought some kind of food to the home of the president, Judy Weidinger and she delivered it Saturday.

Among those receiving bowling honors last Thursday were the boys and girls with the highest averages. Those were Tom Risk, Gordon Clark, Mike Brennan, Clyson Schmand, and Chuck Parr. Girls were James Kolk, Nancy Brown, Mary Longdyke, Mickey Stauffer and Ann Umphrey.

Those were also awards for the winning teams in the school tournament, high game scores, high two game series, and bowlers of the year, Nancy Cheers and Doree Pound.

The recent handicap tournament winners were Mickey Stauffer and Gordon Clark.

President of the club is Gordon Clark; vice-president, Jack Minimus; treasurer, Mary Longdyke; Gallo, Jane Darham, Rmie Ross, Marcia Mezey, Gay Maxwell and Sue Fry.
