

Megan Haupt Butler Weds David Yeomans

Mr. and Mrs. David Robert Yeomans will make their home at Elizabeth Lake when they return from a honeymoon trip thru Canada and the New England states.

MRS. DAVID R. YEOMANS

They were united in marriage Saturday afternoon in the Congregational church of Birmingham by Rev. Robert E. Dowdy. Dennis John Mason, nephew of the groom, and James M. Butler, brother of the bride, served as candlelighters.

THE BRIDE is the former Megan Haupt Butler, daughter of the Reginald H. Butlers of Harmon street, Birmingham. Her husband's parents are Mr. and Mrs. John H. Yeomans of Lower Straits Lake.

Megan accented her bridal ensemble with a strand of pearls and a gold band bracelet which were worn by her grandmother, Mrs. Margaret Haupt, for her wedding.

The bodice of Megan's gown was fashioned with chantilly lace, designed with salina neckline and short sleeves. Medallions of the same type of lace were sprinkled over the bouffant, floor length skirt of three layers of illusion.

WHITE LILACS trimmed the starched net bandeau securing her finger-tip veil of illusion. Net mitts and a bouquet of white ribbon lilies with six streamers completed the bridal picture.

As maid of honor, Charlene Sutin dressed in a waltz length creation of coral colored chiffon styled with full skirt, and shirred bodice, with cowl neckline and floating panels of shell pink. Pink shatterered carnations were combined for her bouquet and circlet headpiece. Her shoes were in pink, and she wore white gloves.

WEARING an identical ensemble, with the colors reversed was the bridesmaid, Joan Cummings. Junior bridesmaid, Bonnie Gay Mason, niece of the groom, was gowned in a party frock of pink embroidered nylon, with apron effect caught up at several places to show a pleated flounce.

Best man was Fred Keller. Guests were seated by Reginald H. Butler, Jr., Don Bosworth and Phil Dondero of Huntington Woods.

Mrs. Butler chose a dress in grey-blue silk faille for her daughter's wedding day. Her flowered hat was in shades of blue, pink and white. The mother of the groom wore a pink lace sheath complemented by a pink chiffon hat trimmed with velvet roses.

AMING out of town guests at the ceremony, and reception which followed in the church's fellowship hall, were Miss Anna Ayrault and Mrs. Milfred Bates of Norwalk, Conn., Mrs. LeRoy Smith of Alexandria, Va., and Leonard J. Yeomans of Coxsackie, N. Y.
