 Afternoon parties will be at the homes of Mrs. William Richard, Mrs. Dewey, Mrs. Haas, Mrs. Florence Miller, Mrs. Warren Rocker, Mrs. and Mrs. George Clark.
 Hostesses for evening parties include Mrs. William Haas, Mrs. William Gidley, Mrs. James Henderson, Mrs. Charles Madrak, Mrs. Kenneth Price and Mrs. Gordon Felling.

Urges Widespread Observance of 'Heritage Day'
 Widespread recognition of the events, institutions and people which have made Michigan a state in which "it's great to live" will be the objective of the fourth annual Michigan Week, May 19 to 25.
 Frank B. Woodford, Detroit, editorial writer for the Detroit Free Press, who heads the state wide Michigan Week committee, announced today that the rights of every citizen to justice under the law; of free schools and universal education; of free press and freedom of worship; it is the example of devotion of those who fought to establish and preserve our liberty," Woodford declared.

ALVIN GOODWIN

Begins His 36th Year With Bell Telephone Co.

Alvin H. Goodwin, known by many Birmingham customers of the Michigan Bell Telephone Company who have private switchboards and more complicated telephone arrangements, today celebrates his 36th service anniversary with the company.
 He is a switchboard repairman here and has served in the Birmingham area, including Franklin and Bloomfield Hills, since 1925.
 Born in Mt. Pleasant, Goodwin joined Michigan Bell as a lineman at Clark, and worked around (including Traverse City and Manistee) before transferring to Pontiac for a year before coming here.
 GOODWIN RECALLS the company vehicle which he drove on his job, describing it as a Model T Ford roadster that never got stuck." It seems it was driven in all kinds of weather, top down, because it was useless to put the top up—it leaked and flapped too much. However, he admits the roadster got him to his job, plowing across fields and through snow-filled roads, pushing the snow ahead of it.
 Both Mr. and Mrs. Goodwin are antique collectors and their home at 3808 Putnam, Walnut Lake, contains some favorite pieces of furniture which he has refinished. The couple have three sons, Paul, Jack, and David.

Easter Seals Have 'New Look'
 A new look in Easter Seals, along with the traditional size seal, was introduced when the 1957 Seals were mailed, according to Arthur Blakesley, chairman of the Easter Seal campaign in Birmingham.
 A sheet of assorted Seals consisting of two sizes plus a "We Have Given" sticker for contributors to display in windows to help promote the campaign, are included in the appealing new combination.
 The sticker, which appears in the center of the sheet, is a duplicate of the billboard and other posters which are used in promoting the campaign. It shows an inviting boy with a crutch asking contributors to "Give—Easter Seals."
 CONTRIBUTORS are urged to help promote the campaign by displaying the sticker on windows or doors when they have mailed their Easter Seal contributions. Large size Seals are specially for use as stickers on packages and gifts.
 The campaign closes April 21.
