The decision of Arthur Maxwell

There once was an intelligent young man named Arthur Maxwell. He thought he would like to "step up" to a "medium-priced" car. So he went and looked at a model just "a few dollars more" than a Ford. At first glance it looked good. But when he got inside he exclaimed, "No radio? No heater? No automatic transmission? You call this Luxury??" He soon saw that a "MEDIUM-PRICED" car with equipment he wanted became a HIGH-priced car. So, being an intelligent young man he dashed off to his Ford Dealer and bought a Ford Fairlane 500—the true luxury car in the low-price field—with all the equipment he wanted for less money than the stripped-down model he had thought he wanted.

Why don't you do as Arthur did?

There is nothing like it in the low-price field
