

There will be more suedes going to school this year, both alone and in combination with patent, reptile and smooth leathers. Matte calf will be seen on a patent leather heel.

Add to the traditional black suede for evening wear at least one golden leather slipper and one slipper of bright-colored, highly lustered leather in jewel tones.

AND some of the newest smaller editions of the spectator pump in taupe, beige or black with white trim and white leather linings.

Then—for really gala occasions—a little girl demands a shoe to make her feet sparkle. It may be a slipper of gold or silver leather, or a luster leather suede pump in jewel tones.

AGAIN it may be a combination of colors of the sugar-and-spice variety such as a pink leather pump with bands of leather shading from shell pink to mauve across the vamp. Or it may be as sophisticated as a gold-speckled black patent leather pump with gold leather trim, or a bronze-scaled reptile pump with bright blue suede trim.

SOMETIMES bright applique in vari-colored leathers may twinkle on a little girl's pump. And sometimes a pump may wear demure velvet bows. Swivel straps that turn a shoe from a Mary Jane into a pump are a feature that pleases both little girls and their mothers.

For Foot Health

Youngsters should be taught to thoroughly dry their feet after a bath, to discourage fungus growth.

Heels on these "very-dressed-up" shoes for little girls are curvy. Just like mother's. Sometimes they may be encrusted with glittering jewels may appear in a sparkling design on the shoe's toe.
