Presto!

Here’s how you’ll find the Birmingham city commission room if you attend a Monday night meeting. Since its remodeling was completed last winter, the air-conditioned room provides colorful, padded seats for visiting citizens! Commissioners sit at three long tables. The room is effectively converted into a courtroom.

Change-O!

Here’s how the room looks when court is in session. Associate Judge John L. Ely’s private audience room, located in front, is now court officer Lt. Delroy Service. Chairs at left are for use when jury is in session. Two of the three commission tables are at

Parents Charge Police Thwart Future Engineers

Some future engineers are being discouraged from pursuing their chosen profession according to a committee of parents who sought to call attention to a situation which has been going on in the Birmingham, Mich., public high school system for some time. These parents have been informed that another special meeting is scheduled by the construction committee in the near future on the question of the elimination of the industrial arts program in the high school.

The committee of parents pointed out that this is the latest example of the city’s efforts to rid the high school of extracurricular activities. They charge that this is being done because the parents fear that the students are likely to become involved in activities which would interfere with their studies.

Halloween Party Stays Centralized

Birmingham’s annual Halloween party was held at the city’s central location, the old Central School, where it has been held for several years. The party was sponsored by the Women’s Club of Birmingham and was well attended by children of all ages.

Complete Phase of Army Training

By Miss Robert B. Wilson, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Wilson, Jr., of Birmingham, the complete phase of army training has been completed by his unit. He is now a member of the 325th Infantry, 83rd Division, which is training in the Pacific theater.

To Widen Adams Rd.

The proposed widening of Adams Road, which will provide more space for pedestrians and cyclists, is moving forward. Plans are underway to extend the road for several blocks, providing safer and more accessible connections to nearby neighborhoods.

The Shady Grove Hotel

A new hotel, the Shady Grove Hotel, is under construction in Birmingham. The hotel will feature a restaurant and lounge, as well as 50 guest rooms. It is expected to open in the spring of 2023.
