3 Schools List Scholarship Semifinalists

Thirteen local students have been named semifinalists in the National Merit Scholarship competition, it was announced this week.

Principal Ross A. Wagner said eight Birmingham high school students had been listed among the 7500 high scorers on the scholarship qualifying test, while Bloomfield Hills Principal Richard J. Spless reported two semifinalists.

From Southfield high school, Principal Robert E. Hall said three students had scored among semifinalists after taking the nationwide college aptitude examination given Oct. 22 in 14,000 American high schools.

From Birmingham high school, semifinalists are Dory Rodgers, Jan Lynch, Stephen Burdick, Mary Roberts, Barbara Hobart, Michael Sommer, Peter Brink and Anne Marcia.

Bloomfield Hills high school's high-ranking scholars are James Kuraa and Nancy Rae Smith.

Southfield high school's list includes Jane Lince, Robert Ewart

Barnum Bylines

BY THE PRESS CLUB

December 13, the Barnum Student Council will sponsor a Christmas dance. On this dressy event, the Crystal Moment band will play. It will be held in the Barnum gym from 5 p.m. to 10:30 p.m.—Pam Wheeler.

Recently the math grade choir started a record-room. Every Friday during the noon hours there is dancing in the music room. Admission is five cents. The choir is trying to raise money and Kenneth McGuire.

The Merit scholarships are sponsored by over 60 firms, as well as professional societies and individuals. Sears Roebuck Foundation, largest sponsor, grants awards worth $500,000 annually.

Semifinalists will take further tests Jan. 11.

ABOUT 800 MERIT Scholars will be chosen, who will receive grants-in-aid averaging $2,000 each. The program is designed to seek out students most able to benefit from a college education, regardless of means.

ey for choir robes and all of the profits go to the fund.

Barnum's Art club under the direction of Miss Clark, is very busy these days working on projects such as decorations, styrofoam balls and mobiles.—Lynn Smith.

The girls' sewing classes gave their fashion show last Thursday at 7:30 p.m. The girls wore the things they had made in sewing class. The show's theme was "Hit Parade of Fashions" which was thought up by Sally Howering. Sally received a bottle of perfume as her prize. The stage was decorated with giant records to carry out the theme.—Marcia Miller.

Last Monday evening, Dec. 8, a gay evening was spent by the Barnum intramural football boys and their dads. The guest speaker of the evening was Bob Reynolds, WJE sportscaster, who gave a wonderful talk. A movie of a Lion's game was shown and coaches Stoll and Gibson gave the boys each a certificate according to teams. At the end of the evening an autographed football with all the Lion's names was presented to Steve Jacobson's team.—John Groves.
