

"What did you come to college for anyway?" demanded the disgruntled professor. "You are not doing any studying."

"Well," replied the student, "Mother says it's to fit me for the Presidency of the United States. Uncle Jim says it's to sew my wild oats. Sister Helen says it's to get a chum for her to marry. And Dad says it's to bankrupt the family."

Harlans Entertain Guests After Cranbook Art Show

Friends of the C. A. Harlans gathered at their North Adams road home after the Cranbook Art show and Christmas sale, Nov. 29.

Their guests were the Marvin Beerbaums and daughter, Cynthia, of Livonia, the Paul Lynans of Wayne and the Tony Spina family of Bloomfield Hills.

Marvin Beerbaum is the artist who has been working on the mural for the Harlan school lobby. He spent a great deal of time visiting the schools in and around Birmingham to learn just what the children's greatest interests were. The mural portrays all these ideas so it will be appealing to children.

The colors will attract the young and the old as they are bright, clear and gay. There are farm animals, prehistoric animals, children done in free form style going through many motions. At one end is a knight in shining armor carrying a banner.

The mural will be completed soon and will be presented to the Harlan school in January.

Spending Thanksgiving day with the Frederick Oliver of Hickory Heights drive were the Lawrence Hoffstetters of Eastover, Marsha and Larry, of Pine Hill drive.

In the evening the "younger generation" were guests of the Howard Harringtons of Sussex road at the Detroit Symphony. They included Judy and Ron Oliver, Marsha and Larry Hoffstetter, and Faith and Brook Harrington.

The Richard Noe's of Upton drive bid farewell to neighbors at the Paul Taylor residence on Langran drive last week. The Noe's have moved to Montreal, Canada, Mrs. Noe's home town.

Dr. Robert Bookmeyer, a pediatrician in Birmingham, was guest speaker at the Eastover PTO meeting Dec. 2, in the school's multi-purpose room.

The guests found Dr. Bookmeyer's talk on "sex education" in which he used a series of records, most interesting. An open discussion followed the doctor's talk.

The Christmas party of the St. Catherine's guild of St. James Episcopal church was hosted by Mrs. Marc Hagerman in her Butternut Hill drive home Wednesday evening.

The Rev. and Mrs. Thomas Phillips and the Rev. and Mrs. Kenneth Cass were among the 40 guests attending. Games were played involving the exchange of Christmas gifts, highlighting the evening of fun.

The Paul Landrys of Yorktown court are entertaining at an "open house" Sunday afternoon. The 26 guests are all friends from the Commercial Credit Co. p. in Detroit. Cocktails and a buffet supper are included in the party plans.

The Landrys are looking forward to the visit of Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Chaney of Kansas City, Mo., during the Christmas holidays. The Landrys and Chaney are old friends.

Miss Dorothy Genter of Lansing was a houseguest at the Lavon Fry's home on North Adams road during Thanksgiving week. On one evening the Fry's entertained guests at a cocktail party, honoring Miss Genter.

The Homer Dedos are newcomers to Lenox road. Their move was from California to Cleveland then back to Birmingham, where they were residents in Bloomfield Village for years.

Dede is an automotive consultant with Sohio Petroleum Co., Birmingham. One of his favorite pastimes is his hobby shop where he enjoys doing woodworking.

Mrs. Dede spends a great deal of her time in child welfare work in hospitals, churches and schools. Her work centers around story telling, with which she uses little figures to hold the children's interest.

The Dedos have four grown children. Herbert is a senior at University of California, medical school in which he is studying medicine at University of Kansas and is presently a lieutenant in the air force, stationed in Texas. Dorothy is a freshman at Simmons college in Boston, Mass. Douglas is a student at Bloomfield Hills high school.

The Donald Kings are newcomers to the Birmingham area. They are residing on Bolingbroke drive until their new home in Westchester is completed. The family moved here from Port Washington, Long Island, N. Y., with their children, Betsy and Bill. King is with the Shell Oil Co. Hobbs will be put aside in the spring in favor of landscaping their new home.

New residents to Walnut drive are the Ernest Upton's of Lake Orion. They have two children, Susan, 5, and Carol Lee, 1. Upton is a section engineer with General Motors Tech Center.

Their interests include water sports and bridges. They are active in the Northbrook church.

Arriving from Denver, Colo., on Dec. 17 to spend the Christmas holidays are Upton's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest D. Upton.

Have you met the George Clerands of Walnut Hill drive? Their move was from Beverly Hills, Calif. and in the sales department with Brook and Perkins, Detroit.

The Clerands have two children, Lynda, 7, attending Harlan school, and Kimberly, 2. Collecting antiques is an interest Mrs. Clerand enjoys while all the family join her in their favorite sport of swimming.

Saturday Lynda Clerands celebrated her seventh birthday with 20 friends from Beverly Hills and Pine Hill. The decorations were centered around a Christmas theme, with Santa Claus and his candy canes. Cartoons made a big hit with the "small fry".

The Marvin Lohrs are newcomers to Queens Way, formerly of Detroit. They have two grown sons, Ronald, 14, of Detroit, who has just completed his tour of duty with the U.S. Army, and Donald, 11, of Royal Oak.

Lohr has his own business, Michigan Litho-graving and Supply in Detroit. Knitting and bowling are among the Lohr's hobby interests.

Smile Awhile—
"The dying man gasped pitifully, 'Grant me one last request, Julia.' 'Of course,' she said softly. 'Six months after I die, I want you to marry Sam,'" he said. "Sam?" she said in a shocked tone. "But I thought you hated that man." "Exactly," he said with his final breath.
