

Show Stars Get Pointers

road, Bloomfield Hills; Licklider; Sherry Marker, daughter of the Thomas Markers, 864 Waddington, Birmingham; Peter Cooley, top, and Louis Potter. The four students play the leads in Robert Sherwood's "There Shall Be No Night", to be presented in the school auditorium at 8 p.m.

Bloomfield Hills Billboard

By ANDREE GALLAUDET and SUE SUNDBERG

John Duncan, Sue Boyd, Joan VanderMeer, Jim Kuras, Tom Sharp, Andy Gallaudet, Nancy Smith, Dave DeWindt, and Jim Kearney met with the senior class advisers, Miss Betty Harry and Mr. Charles Lemke, to total the results of the senior class magazine sales last week. Honors and portable radios went to John Duncan and Andy Gallaudet, high salesmen for the drive.

Roy Flemming's home was the scene of a wonderful reunion party Saturday night. Everyone home for the holiday gathered at Roy's to catch up on the latest gossip and tell of their fabulous college experiences.

Don't forget the Christmas concert next Thursday at 8:15. Tickets will go on sale this week from any student in the music department. Don't miss it.

Last week Gay Firth, Barbara Van Dyk, John Welsh, and John

Duncan presented a panel discussion on WEXL in one of the key subjects of the moment, that of the teenage code.

This code states definite rules for teenagers on drinking, smoking, hours, and other things which seem to cause disagreement between students and their parents. The students at Bloomfield Hills feel that the code is unnecessary and not the answer to any problems which students in this area might have. They felt that it was up to the parents to set the rules for their teenage daughters and sons, and that it was not fair to handicap one person who was not restricted as much as another might be, just because the code stated that all teenagers must be off the streets at a certain time on week nights.

The only people who would follow the code would be those who don't need it and those who do need to follow it would only disobey it. In a large city under different circumstances this code might possibly be very helpful. However, in our community it is not necessary and could even cause more harm than good due to the opposition to it.

However, this is only one school's opinion, and we would be interested to know what other schools feel towards the teenage code.

Will-O-Way Slates Christmas Show

A special children's Christmas play, "The Broken Doll," will be presented at Will-O-Way apprentices the W. Long Lake road, Bloomfield Hills, on the weekends of Dec. 13 and 20. The annual Christmas event of the school is open to the public, free of charge.

Saturday performances are at 12:30, 8 and 9 p.m. Sunday shows are at 2, 4 and 6 p.m. Friday, Dec. 20, shows will be presented at 8 and 9 p.m.

In the early days Uncle Sam gave the pioneer railroads $123 million of land grant help. By the time the Land Grant law was repealed in 1946 he had been repaid $1,085 million in the form of free transportation for his men and supplies.
