

Localities Make Reservations For DAC Dinner-Dance-Show

Six evenings of merrymaking at the Detroit Athletic club will give another fillip to February for Birmingham and whole metropolitan area. Earlier gaiety was the DAC Beav-Bloomfield members, along with their club brethren of the ers Party held last Saturday.

The upcoming fiesta, to open this coming Monday, Feb. 18, and continue through the 23rd, will be a gala dinner-dance and floor show.

SPICING each evening will be the beautiful soprano, Connie Towers, a newcomer who has won instantaneous success in television and smart supper clubs. On the comedy side will be Charlie Manna, whose funny routines have scored on top TV shows.

DAC's main dining room will be the six-time party locale. It's to be dinner at 7 and dancing to music by Art Lowry and his orchestra. The Lowry band comes to the club Monday for an extended stay.

A FEW of the Birminghamites to attend are the William S. Spiegels, Roland A. Mewhorts, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Daddi, the William J. Griffins, William W. Beysters, Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Wiggins, the John H. Lamb, R. A. Sillavassilis, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Reicks.

At last Saturday's party—the annual formal fete given by DAC Beavers to honor their wives—the club's natorium was transformed into a glamorous lounge scene with rugs around the swimming pool, and groupings of chairs, tables and settees for visiting and chat during the cocktail hour and a spectacular diving show.

MR. AND MRS. Arthur T. Davis of 16931 Reedmere, Southfield township, announce the engagement of their daughter, Joyce Arlene, to Glen Paul Loyd. The bridegroom-to-be is the son of Mrs. Douglas Swink of Dearborn and Ivan Loyd of Chicago, Ill. The couple plan a July 6 wedding at Congregational church of Birmingham.
