Cranbrook Music Guild To Celebrate 5th Birthday

Cranbrook Music Guild will celebrate its fifth birthday anniversary at their concert in Cranbrook House Tuesday, Feb. 12, when the Albemeri Trio appears.

Glowing reports telling about the appearance in New York of Ward Davenny, pianist; George Ciomp, violinist and Benar Heletz, cellist, state that "such men seemed actually to enjoy the music, and his enjoyment communicated itself to his fellow players and to an appreciative audience."

MRS. BENJAMIN Brewer, first president of Cranbrook Music Guild met with LeRoy W. Dahlberg, present president, and Henry S. Booth, one of the Guild's founders, and recalled some happy memories during the five year mark.

During this period 21 concert programs of various kinds have been presented. The organization as a whole remains the same as when it began with the addition of two important committees.

THE FUTURE planning committee is headed by Carl O. Barton and the gift fund committee by Mrs. Benjamin Brewer.

Mrs. Walter A. Williams has been chairman of the advisory committee since its beginning. This important committee plans the programs to be presented each year.

Social committee of which Mrs. Lewis B. Sappington is chairman with the assistance of Mrs. LeRoy E. Kiefer have made plans for a big birthday cake to celebrate the occasion.

Assisting hostesses will be Mrs. William J. Bird, Mrs. Charles H. Hunsdon. At the tea table will be Mrs. Clyde P. Crane, Mrs. Graham John Graham, Mrs. Gunnar

Karlstrom and Mrs. F. I. Klingensmith.

CONCERTS are mostly presented at the Cranbrook House, however each year an outdoor concert is presented at the Greek theater and one at Kingswood auditorium or the Cranbrook Gym, as the board tries to plan one concert a year of great interest to the students of Cranbrook institutions.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas P. Sharples, now of Fort Wayne, Ind.
