Former Franklin Girl Wins Honors As Song Writer

FRANKLIN—The story of Anne White's success as a composer was told in a recent issue of the Hammond (10d). Times. Anne is the 19-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irwin White, who moved from Franklin several years ago to Hudson, Ohio.

Anne started writing songs when she was only 12, but it was several years before she thought of selling them. Although she played her work for Leslie Caron and George Horne, and made TV appearances, she found it difficult to break into the music publishing field.

Her lucky break came when two young singers, the Tracy twins, heard her songs and liked them enough to record four of them. A recording of her "Flip-Flop" by Ray Anthony really launched her song writing career.

Anne was an honor student and active in school activities before graduating from Hudson high school. The mayor of Hudson proclaimed a special "Anne White Day."

The high school band escorted her to the village green where she was presented a distinguished citizen award along with tributes from her classmates and church groups.

Anne is now a freshman at Colorado college in Colorado Springs.

Community Hall's History Reviewed

BY NATALIE YINGLING

FRANKLIN — Three years ago a committee, composed of Philip Van Dyke, Harry Kottick and Bob Mitchell, was appointed to decide the fate of the Franklin Community hall.

The present hall was built in 1903 by the Marcabees, an insurance fraternal organization. Although the building was not quite complete and a huge canvas covered the unfinished roof, the first dance was proudly held in the hall on July 4 of that year.

SINCE the night of its gala opening, the whole building has been in the heart of the village has been in constant use for club meetings, dinners, plays and countless dances and parties.

The hall is now owned by the Franklin area captain's association which was formed in the late 30's as an adjunct of the community church.

There are many aspects to be considered and details to be worked out before the committee can come to any definite conclusions. With an eye to the future development of the area, they are considering the possibility of restoring the present hall or of building a new community center.
