

B'ham Planners
Determining City Alley Needs

The Birmingham city planning department has decided on the general areas in which alleys should be constructed to aid retail merchants, according to City Planner Herbert Herzberg.

been determined, he said, because of the time taken to study zoning ordinances and the priority given to improvement on existing alleys. Meanwhile, the engineering department has been working on the project, he added.

Herzberg said the alleys are needed for rubbish and garbage collection. He mentioned that valuable frontage is wasted unless there are alleys to provide a way to the rear of the stores.

Says the Barrister

Your records are everywhere except where you can find them.

Have you ever thought of the fact that your memory can't do the whole job of keeping together all the legal facts you may need—and need in a hurry? You may waste valuable time and then not find what you want. And I'm not talking only about money facts. I mean all the facts about yourself.

I checked on this the other day and here is what I was advised:

"Get a notebook and list the names, dates, places and main points of interest about yourself, your parents, your family, children, property, and so on."

WHY?

Do Men Wear Tails?

In envy of bright plumaged birds, Australian, African and American savages wore tassels and tail feathers. When Western man gave up knee breeches, he wore tailcoat cut away in front, with light, square-cut vest, to appear slim-waisted and tall.

When tails of John Spencer, Earl of Sunderland, caught fire while he was warming his back too close to open hearth, he abandoned tailed tails, cooked-up short "Spencer" jacket. Duke of Windsor—and realization men looked silly carefully spreading tails to plant posteriors in chairs—popularized tail-less dinner jacket. (Copyright 1957, John Emery Ent.)
