

Duo Recital 'Excellent', Says Reviewer

By SHIRLEY MATHEWS

Sunday the Cranbrook Garden Concerts Series presented Paul Olefsky, cellist, and Gordon Staples, violinist in an unaccompanied duo recital. Both artists are leading members of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra.

It was a treat to the ear as well as to the eye to hear great music well played in the idyllic setting of the gardens at Cranbrook House.

The choice of literature for the two instruments was excellently chosen and excellently performed. The Sonata for violin and cello by Ravel is a lush, exciting work played beautifully and masterfully by Olefsky and Staples.

B'ham Crew Cited For Efficiency

Birmingham forestry crews are courteous and efficient according to Fred L. Yockey, city manager of Huntington Woods.

Yockey stated in a letter to Birmingham's city manager, Harold K. Schone: "I can say without fear of contradiction, that your forestry crews from Birmingham are most efficient in the conduct of work assigned. The men were courteous and helpful, and we received many compliments from Huntington Woods residents on the expedition way the clean up was performed."

Birmingham has been paid $542 by Huntington Woods for aid received after recent wind damage.

County, Troy Agree To Widening More Of Adams Road

Before Birmingham city officials agree to widening of Adams road from Adams school north, they want to determine who will be responsible for the maintenance of the viaduct over the railroad.

City Engineer L. R. Gare said the county road commission has agreed to share in widening and re-surfacing costs, but wants the project extended to the 16 Mile road.

Gare said Troy is ready to pay its portion of the widening. Adams at this point is the dividing line between Birmingham, Troy and Bloomfield Township.

From US-10 north to the school, Adams was widened a couple of years ago.

Alley Vacated

Birmingham city commission has vacated an alley north of 14 Mile, extending west from Edgewood. Residential property lies both sides of the easement, which will be retained for service to public utilities.

IN THIS piece, each instrument is alternately soloist and accompanist. At times, through the use of double stops and the especially flexible tonal range of the cello, the listener might think he is hearing a string quartet—if he was not watching.

Olefsky's perfect performance of the Bach 5th Suite for unaccompanied cello was a delightfully moving one. He executed the most difficult and complex contrapuntal passages with complete understanding and outward ease.

Each movement was played with majestic beauty—quite unlike the usual sterile interpretation of the 18 Century Master.

THE VILLA Lobos "Deux Choros" is a charming work which demonstrates the abilities of both players and instruments.

The well-loved "Chaconne" from J. S. Bach's Partita in D minor was given a brilliant and stirring performance by Staples. His intelligent and musical playing of this great work may be considered one of the few outstanding interpretations of the day.

The Kodaly Duo provided a fitting climax to an exceedingly enjoyable concert. This work is quite varied with rich sonorities, lush melodies, and lively folk dance rhythms.

Such performances around the Detroit area are sometimes equalled, but never surpassed.

Their encore, the Handel-Halvorsen "Passacaglia," is a magnificent set of variations which exhausts the technical possibilities of the two instruments.
